U.S. Moves To Ease Adenauer's Concern Over Policy On Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is prepared to assure Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that West Germany can exercise a virtual veto over Western policies for summit negotiations on the future of Berlin and Germany.

Adenauer is bound to be worried about what he considers the danger of weakness in the Western approach to the summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev at Paris starting May 16. He is coming to the United States in a week to try to stiffen U.S. resistance to any concessions to Russia, especially on West Berlin.

Administration authorities say Adenauer's concern is understandable but that U.S. planning gives him no real cause for concern.

The United States, they add, is determined that West German leaders, particularly including those in West Berlin, must be satisfied with the whole Western policy on Berlin and with the negotiations at every step of the way.

Adenauer seems to be afraid, however, that as Khrushchev builds up his combination of threat and pressure in an effort to wrest West Berlin from U.S.-British - French protection, new Western concessions will be offered in the hope of avoiding any new, militarily dangerous West Berlin crisis.

Diplomats said Adenauer's confidence in his Western allies has not been strengthened by the handling of their decision to make high altitude flights between West Germany and West Berlin in defiance of Communist warnings not to do so.

The three-power agreement to resume such flights, made several weeks ago, became known Monday. The idea was to send official notice to the Russians at once but some complication within the U.S. government delayed this action all week. Many officials feared the over-all effect of this would be to show up the Western powers as irresolute.

The delay apparently has stemmed from differences over notification procedure between the State and Defense Departments or within the Defense Department.

The issue may be resolved shortly with the return to Washington Saturday of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and the return Monday of Eisenhower.

Adenauer, due in Washington March 14, favors a tough and unyielding attitude toward negotiations with Russia over Berlin. Diplomats said he believes the Russians are quite serious about their express determination to break the Western hold on the city.

REDS SUE MOVIE DIRECTOR

BERLIN (AP) — DEFA, the film monopoly in Communist East Germany, has brought suit in a West Berlin court against a director who fled to the West. The grounds: He left a movie unfinished.

The lawyer for DEFA accused Herbert Ballmann, the director, of breaking his contract by leaving the film "Try It With Love" in the middle of shooting.

Senate Filibusterers Rest Until Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than 125 hours of a virtually nonstop session, the Senate temporarily broke off late Saturday its marathon election-year battle over civil rights legislation.

On motion of Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the Senate recessed at 5:31 p.m. (EST) until noon Monday when round-the-clock sessions are to start once again in a effort to reach a vote.

Neither advocates of broad new civil rights measures nor a band of 18 Southern senators fighting against them expressed any willingness to give ground.

For the time being at least, it appeared that the two-thirds majority required to invoke the debate-limiting cloture rule and choke off the Dixie filibuster could not be obtained.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) taking the floor in midafternoon, said it may be necessary next week for the civil rights forces to mount "an antifilibuster filibuster."

As he outlined this tactic, Keating said civil rights proponents could take turns speaking from midnight until 8 a.m. daily so that others would not have their sleep interrupted by quorum calls.

The Southerners, who have been doing most of the speechmaking in an effort to stave off a vote on the civil rights bill, have been routing their foes out of bed in the wee hours by insisting that a quorum, or a majority of the 100 senators, be in the Senate chamber.

Keating, however, said he never felt better. He said he and other senators are finding out they don't

To Hold Final Rites Monday For Leonard Warren

NEW YORK (AP) — A requiem mass will be offered for operatic baritone Leonard Warren at 10 a.m. Monday at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Vincent Ferrer.

Warren, 48, collapsed and died on stage Friday night at the Metropolitan Opera House. A doctor said the noted singer suffered a stroke.

The mass will be said by the Rev. Roy Gardner, O.P., of Providence, R.I., a friend of Warren and formerly assigned to St. Vincent Ferrer Church at Lexington Avenue and 66th Street.

Burial will be in St. Mary's Church Cemetery at Greenwich, Conn.

Storm Moves Into Canada, Leaves 160 Dead Across Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — The worst winter storm to hammer the Northeast in more than a decade surged into Newfoundland Saturday knocking out power lines and snarling traffic.

The gale, centering mainly on the eastern part of the province, was expected to dump up to 10 inches of snow. Biting winds up to 55 miles an hour quickly piled up snowdrifts that clogged highways.

In the United States—from the Canadian border to Dixie—snowblitzed residents still felt the storm's waning lash. Up to a foot of snow fell in southwest Michigan and northern Indiana. Temperatures plummeted to near zero in some Southern states. Snow flurries plagued New York and parts of New England.

The main concern for most was "operation digout" — clearing snow-choked streets and highways and removing cars from under giant snow mounds.

Air, rail and highway transportation returned slowly to normal schedules, but some delays and cancellations were reported—particularly in metropolitan areas.

Snowdrifts of eight and nine feet were common in much of New England. Three feet of snow lingered in upstate New York and more was forecast Sunday along the Great Lakes.

An Army ambulance helicopter and National Guardsmen went to the rescue of three ill persons in isolated farmhouses in Maryland.

New York City was peppered with light snow flurries that tapered off in the afternoon. Many streets in the five boroughs still had man-high mounds of snow along the sidewalks. But a force of 10,000 men worked to clear the snow and gather refuse, uncollected since last Thursday.

In contrast, much of Maine had

30 U of I White Students Stage Sympathy Protest

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Thirty white University of Illinois students demonstrated peacefully in front of a downtown Champaign drugstore Saturday as a protest against segregated lunch counters in the South.

The students picketed Champaign's only Walgreen drugstore for three hours without incident, but attempts to pass out handbills were prevented by police, who cited a city anti-litter ordinance.

Walgreen is a national chain with many Southern stores, some of which have been the object of sit-down sirikes by Negroes and white sympathizers.

Fred Canning, the store manager, said the demonstrators didn't disturb business in any way. Canning said there was no segregation at the Champaign store.

The students carried placards reading "We Support Southern Sit-ins," 'All Walgreens Should Be Like This One," and "U. of I. Students Support Equality."

Racial Violence Flares In S. Carolina: Sitdowns Spread

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fifty club-wielding Negroes terrorized a white drive-in at Columbia, S.C., Saturday in the latest outbreak of violence accompanying demonstrations against segregated lunch counters.

An already tense situation in Montgomery, Ala., worsened Saturday night with an announcement that police would break up any attempt by Negroes to hold a mass protest meeting on the State Capitol grounds Sunday.

Peaceful demonstrations were staged in Florida, Texas and Kentucky.

Police arrested four Negro students from Allen University in the flare-up at Columbia. All were released when officers said no evidence was found to connect them with disturbance.

The Negroes invaded the drive-in about 3:45 a.m., saying they were going to take over the place. They battered several cars with clubs and bricks. A white woman in one car was injured slightly by flying glass.

A Negro spokesman said groups of white and Negro students hurled bricks during the night near the campuses of Allen University and Benedict College, Negro institutions.

Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan of Montgomery issued the ban against the Negroes' Sunday meeting. He did so after a group of white men and women drove along the streets displaying signs urging economic retaliation against Negroes.

The prayer meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

It was called by the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy after an estimated 900 Negro students at Alabama State College renewed their support of a mass walkout when spring registration begins Monday. The strike was proposed in protest against expulsion of nine students who led earlier student demonstrations.

Two peaceful sit-ins were staged in Tallahassee, Fla. No arrests were made.

A white youth who declined to identify himself accompanied a group of Negroes who sat down in a variety store.

Asked by newsmen why he was with the demonstrators, he replied: "I have a great deal of sympathy with the Southern Negro and I feel my being here shows that the Southern Negro doesn't stand alone." He said he was not from Florida.

FILE TAX CLAIMS AGAINST ST. LOUIS COUPLE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Chicago office of the Internal Revenue Service has filed liens totaling $481,469 against a part owner of Reddi-Wip Inc., and his wife, of Chicago.

The liens, filed Friday in the office of the St. Louis County recorder of deeds, charge Marcus and Jeannette Lipsky with deficiencies in their federal income taxes for the years 1945 through 1950.

Besides his position with Reddi-Wip, Lipsky si chairman of the board of a pancake mix company. Reddi-Wip has branches in St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Similar liens totaling $364,241 were filed against Lipsky in 1952 for the years 1942, 1943 and 1944.

Adamowski Raps Naming Wilson To Top Police Post

CHICAGO (AP)—State's Atty. Ben Adamowski said Saturday the "greatest fraud ever pulled on the people of Chicago" was the appointment of Orlando W. Wilson as Chicago's police Superintendent.

Adamowski said the selection of the University of California criminologist was "rigged."

"It simply is not true," said Kreml, a Northwestern University transportation expert who had served with Wilson on the Committee named by Mayor Richard Daley to screen candidates for the job of top police executive after the ouster in January of Timothy J. O'Connor.

Wilson was installed as the $30,000-a-year police superintendent Friday, shortly after the city council approved Daley's nominations for members of the police policy board.

The board and the post of superintendent, replacing the job of police commissioner, were created by the council earlier this week in the wake of reports that policemen in several districts worked with burglars to loot stores.

Adamowski said he plans to file suit next week to block the appointments of Wilson, Kreml and Paul W. Goodrich, Chicago Assn. of Commerce president to the police policy board.

The other three board members are Chicagoans.

Eisenhower's Trip Called Unqualified Success By Officials

RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico (AP) — President Eisenhower's 15,560-mile South American tour was an unqualified success, U.S. officials said Saturday.

They said the tour of Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay created good will and understanding vital in settling specific problems in each country.

At the same time, they emphasized the tour was not tied in with specific loan projects, but that an increasing attitude of U.S. cooperation in achieving Latin-American aspirations could be expected.

Among the achievements of the trip they listed:

1. Chile's overriding interest in Latin-American arms limitations, proposed by Chilean President Jorge Alessandri, was not tied to any request to the United States to cut its sale of small arms. The United States pointed out, however, that the 1947 inter-American treaty of reciprocal assistance permits moves to limit arms.

2. Opportunity was provided for Eisenhower's National Advisory Council on Inter-American Affairs to come to direct grips with problems involved in improving U.S.-Latin-American relations.

3. Interest was shown by nations visited in increasing trade opportunities. They were particularly concerned about U.S. protectionism as applied to raw materials they sell.

4. Approval was expressed for the U.S. policy of patience toward the revolutionary government of Cuba.

5. There was evidence the tour will help slow down an all-out Communist drive in Latin America.

U.S. officials said Uruguay presented a list of projects in which it is most interested, including electric power and transportation. They said Argentina appeared anxious to take advantage of a wider exchange of persons, particularly in technical fields.

Out of the improved understanding, achieved in large part because of trust in and respect for the President, concrete measures to meet Latin-American needs could evolve.

Presley Gets His Discharge

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — Elvis Presley became a civilian again Saturday. He picked up his final Army pay of $109.54 and left in a chauffeur-driven limousine to resume his big money rock 'n' roll singing career.

"Go get 'em, Elvis," a couple of Army buddies shouted as Presley left Ft. Dix with his manager, Col. Tom Parker.

Presley appeared subdued and not very talkative. He told newsmen in reply to questions that he would be in the inactive reserve for the next six years, and that he had no plans for writing a book as previously reported.

Presley delined to give his immediate destination. But he had said earlier he planned to spend about two weeks at his Memphis, Tenn., home.

Parker headed for New York.

Body Of Woman Found In Field Near Belvidere

BELVIDERE, Ill. (AP) — The body of a 19-year-old Belvidere woman was found in a field near Belvidere Saturday and authorities said she apparently died of exposure.

Sheriff Cecil Morgan identified the victim as Miss Yvonne Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Rhodes of Belvidere.

Morgan said he was questioning a young man who was with the woman Friday night. His identity was not disclosed immediately.

The sheriff said the man related he and Miss Rhodes had been drinking and got into an argument. The man said she got out of his car on a rural road six miles southeast of Belvidere in below zero weather and started walking toward a farmhouse. Her companion drove off, he told the sheriff.

Morgan said the young woman apparently tried to rouse the occupants of the nearby farm home but failed and then started across a field toward another farm dwelling. He said tracks in the snow showed she climbed over three fences but collapsed alongside a fourth, where her body was found.

Movie Industry Faces Crisis In Threatened Actors' Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie industry is face to face with a cataclysm that could mean the end of the Hollywood system that has long ruled the film world.

The actors have voted to go on strike at the major studios at a minute past midnight Sunday night. The producers have made no move to stop them. Bitterness grows on each side.

If the strike continues a long period, some predict major studios will vanish from the Hollywood scene. Movies will still be made, but the industry may be reduced to a shadow of its one-time giant size.

What brought about this fight, called by one company head "a battle to the death"? The answer is simple: Money.

The actors want a share of the money from recent movies sold to television. The studios won't give it. Each side has its arguments.

1. THE PRODUCERS. They have been beset with problems ever since the war. First, the government stepped in and made the studios give up their theaters, which acted as a buffer against losses on production. The trust-busters also stopped block-booking, the system of selling theaters in bunches of movies — the good and the bad — instead of each one on its own merits.

Then came TV—along with new interest in bowling, motor sports, boating, Little League baseball and other competitors for the entertainment dollar. Costs rose sharply.

Producers sought ways to stay in business — making TV films, drilling for oil, selling studios and leasing them back. The biggest source of income was selling old films to TV. Examples: Paramount's sale of its pre-1948 films for 50 million.

The movie makers argue they need the money from TV sales of post-1948 movies to stay in business. They argue that most new features lose money at the box office. They claim the actors want to get paid twice for doing one job.

2. THE ACTORS. Economic survival has always been a problem for the acting breed. Though they found new work in television, actors have been drawing less and less money from movies. They want a share of the millions the studios are getting for old movies in TV.

U.S. Denies Charges, Will Enter Protest

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro angrily blamed the United States Saturday night for what he said was an act of sabotage that caused the explosion of a munitions shipment in Havana harbor.

In his strongest attack on the United States, the bearded revolutionary leader declared those interested in blocking arms shipments to Cuba had caused the explosion aboard the French freighter La Coubre Friday. And he said "United States officials" had blocked such shipments in the past.

(The State Department in Washington quickly replied: "These implications are categorically and emphatically denied." It said the United States will enter a "vigorous protest to this unfounded and irresponsible accusation.")

From 54 to 73 persons were killed and from 206 to 345 were injured when grenades and small arms ammunition blew up as the French ship was being unloaded alongside a dock here.

In a two-hour speech before a crowd at a mass funeral service for blast victims, Cstro appeared to have shut the door on any hopes for negotiations of U.S.-Cuban differences as proposed recently by his own government.

He heatedly reemphasized at the end of his speech that the Cuban revolution would not take one step backward from its stated objectives. These call for the fulfillment of drastic reforms that are at the bottom of the major Cuban-American differences.

The bearded Prime Minister said the detonating mechanism that caused the blasts was put aboard the ship at a foreign port and was triggered as one of the grenade boxes was moved.

Castro charged that "a North American consul and military attache" in Belgium had tried to block the sale of Belgian arms to Cuba.

Since they "tried by diplomatic means to prevent that arms would be sold to us, we have the right to think they could have tried to prevent it by other means," Castro shouted.

Castro led a mass funeral for victims. Six of the dead were French crewmen. The rest were Cuban soldiers and workers unloading a cargo of Belgian arms.

All work in Havana except for the operations at the dockside disaster scene, was halted in honor of the victims. Castro delivered the main funeral oration.

Castro said the explosion occurred in the ship's hold where 30 tons of rifle grenades were stored. He discounted the possbility they could have detonated through the accidental dropping of a box.

He told a huge crowd a test by his air force after the explosion proved his point. He said a plane dropped two boxes containing grenades from altitudes of from 400 to 600 feet. Then, dramatically holding up two grenades, he said: "And here they are. They didn't go off. I can assure you they couldn't go off if they were dropped 100 or 1,000 times."

"I can assure you the explosion couldn't be accidental. It had to be intentional," he added.

Castro appeared deeply affected as he arrived at the Labor Palace to direct funeral plans. He moved aside radio and TV microphones and at times appeared to sob. At Havana's cemetery, where thousands gathered for the funeral, security officers searched all those who sought entry, for hidden arms.

Revolucion, the organ of Castro's revolutionary movement, charged "the United States had pledged that these arms should not reach Cuba." Its attack appeared under the black headline "Sabotage."

Official sources said military intelligence agents were holding Don Chapman of North Bend, Neb., one of the ship's passengers. They said Fidel Castro personally interrogated the American at Cuban naval headquarters.

U.S. Embassy officials attempting to see Chapman were told they could not see him at this time.

David Salvador, head of the powerful Cuban Confederation of Labor, charged the ship was sabotaged. He asserted the blow "which killed and maimed our workers and our soldiers" came

Start Demolition In Agadir; Will Build New City

AGADIR, Morocco (AP) — Troops wearing surgical masks Saturday began clearing earthquake-shattered Agadir so a new city may rise on the ruins where up to 12,000 persons died in the darkness between last Monday and Tuesday.

Bulldozers tore at two Moroccan sections of the town where almost all hope was given up of finding any more survivors. And though formal rescue operations have been abandoned, King Mohammed V ordered special care be taken in any areas where survivors might miraculously be alive.

"We are not savages," a government spokesman said angrily of reports that napalm would be used to reduce the danger of disease in the city. "We shall search for the living and bury the dead that are found. Rescue work will parallel the work of disinfecting the city."

The government also denied that disease had broken out and said the strict quarantine and total evacuation of the city had been precautionary measures to avoid this very thing.

It is estimated that perhaps 2,000 bodies still are in the areas where the bulldozers are working. The final death toll of the quakes, tidal wave and fire may never be known although Crown Prince Moulay Hassan announced Friday night that 12,000 dead would not be an exaggerated estimate.

Troops remaining in the city were mainly Moroccan although some French sailors helped and 186 men of the U.S. 79th Engineer Battalion remained. The French-American-Moroccan airlift operating from Agadir airport was still functioning although almost all the seriously injured had been evacuated.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED, ANOTHER HURT IN COLLISION

LISBON, Ill. (AP)—A Nebraska truck driver was killed and another trucker was injured Friday night in a head - on collision on U. S. Route 52 west of Lisbon.

Dead was Donald Tate, 35, Plattsmouth, Neb., driver of a truck owned by Tide House Products Co. of Shenandoah, Iowa. He was pinned in the wreckage.

State police said it appeared Tate's vehicle crossed into the opposite lane and struck another semi-trailer truck driven by Donald H. Wartenberg, 22, of Joliet. Wartenberg was in fair condition in a Morris hospital.

Lisbon is 20 miles west of Joliet.

MEREDOSIA — On the evening of February 24 a total of sixty Cub Scouts, their families and friends enjoyed a fried chicken potluck supper at the Meredosia grade school, with Rev. Joseph Martin giving the invocation and closing prayer.

John Stanfield led the groups in singing "A Smile is Quite a Funny Thing" and "The Cub Scout Advancement Song." Stanfield spoke on behalf of the P. T. A., Cubs' sponsor.

The skit on the program was an original, written by Mrs. Harvey Dawson, Jr., den mother of Den 4. Cubs from each den held lighted candles and letters spelling "Cub Scouting" and told what the letters they held meant.

Awards given before the lighted candle board were: Gary Irvin, Bear; Larry Craft and Gary Gregory, Wolf. Each boy then gave his mother a miniature pin of his rank. Year pins were awarded to John Caldwell and Clayton Crowden. Harold Newman was welcomed as a new Cub for Den 4. A ceremony welcoming Danny Dunday, a recent Cub, will be held at the next pack meeting.

Last Seven Days Topic Of Civil War Roundtable

The story of "The Last Seven Days of the Civil War," when General Lee and his army retreated, unbelievably, to the north was told Friday evening by Jack Kurtz at the March meeting of the Jacksonville Civil War Roundtable.

Kurtz displayed king-sized maps to help carry his listeners through the final days when the Army of the Potomac, at last, overwhelmed the Army of Virginia.

Of special interest to his auditors was Kurtz's documented observations that the ordinary soldier in the ranks knew that the war was over before the generals admitted it.

"General Ewell started out of Richmond with 6,000 men," the speaker pointed out, "and in 60 miles 2,400 of his men simply dropped out of the ranks and went home."

Newcomers to the Roundtable Friday evening were Alfred Hodgson, editor and publisher of the Waverly Journal, and Mayor Horace Walmsley of Winchester.

TRY WALDORF!

Waldorf Salad is composed of diced apple and celery plus mayonnaise. If you want to ring a change, use finocchio instead of the celery. Use the bulbous part of finocchio, slicing it as you would celery; the frond-like leaves may be used as a garnish.

PERK IT UP

Leather Fashions For Spring

BY GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA) — This is the big year for white fashions throughout the land. The leather coat or jacket in white is naturally an important part of this spring parade.

Washable white leather is practical as well as chic. It's intended for both town wear and travel and has been cut by top designers into coats, cardigans and man-tailored jackets. Some are trimmed in black, brown or crimson in order to keep company with spectator shoes and handbags.

For evening, white leather dazzles. It's embroidered in gold thread to make little bolero jackets with lantern sleeves. Off-white leathers display scrolls worked in gold thread, seed pearls and jewels.

Again for evening, fur and leather are paired up. Full-length leather coats get collars of mink or big fluffs of Canadian lynx or blue fox. A very beautiful and sophisticated white leather coat has collar and pockets of leopard.

For at home evenings, the hostess can receive her guests in a short jacket and matching skirt of violet leather. Or, she might prefer slim pants of white leather adorned with beaded designs and worn high on the waist.

'Conscience Fund' Taxpayers Will Get Credit If Names Found

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue service said today errant taxpayers who make anonymous contributions to the agency's "conscience fund" will be credited with the payments if tax agents ever catch up with them.

In response to an inquiry, officials said evidence of every payment to the fund is carefully preserved for this purpose.

Conscience fund is the informal name given to an IRS account which receives contributions from taxpayers who have cheated Uncle Sam and want to settle their debt without revealing their identity.

The fund collects about $10,000 a year. Recent payments have ranged from 10 cents to $2,000.

One man wrote that he couldn't sleep because of his tax evasion and was sending in $300. He added this postscript: "If I still can't sleep, I will send more later."

Perhaps the strangest of all conscience fund cases involved a retired New England business man. He sent in five new $1,000 bills and was quickly traced through the serial numbers.

When agents called on him, he reported that he came to the United States as an immigrant, built up a prosperous business and felt the country had been so good to him that he ought to make a contribution just in case he had once made an unwitting error in his taxes.

Agents went over his books and found that Uncle Sam owed the man $11,000. So he got a treasury check for $16,000, which included the return of his anonymous payment.

Officials said no effort is made to trace most contributions. However, action is taken if the amount is substantial and if enough leads are provided.

RIP-ROARING
MID-AMERICA PREMIERE

Movie-goers of this area will be among the first to see a new fast-paced Warner Bros. picture, "GUNS OF THE TIMBERLAND," which stars Alan Ladd, Jeanne Crain annd Gilbert Roland and introduces the teenage singing sensation — Frankie Avalon. It will open at the Times theatre Saturday, March 12th.

The local showing will be part of a mammoth Mid-America Premiere saturation covering a dozen or more states.

"GUNS OF THE TIMBERLAND" is a Jaguar production for Warner Bros. and was filmed in Technicolor, with some of northern California's most beautiful scenery as a background. It is based on the novel by Louis L'Amour.

International screen favorite Alan Ladd is cast as a rugged logger who fights a forest fire, battles his way through a mountain road blocked by an explosion and has several vicious fights, including a memorable one with Roland. The auburn-haired beauty, Jeanne Crain, returns to the screen as the romantic interest — a comely lass who can manage a ranch and ride a bucking bronco with the skill of a man. The 18-year-old singing idol Frankie Avalon makes his film acting debut as a young ranch hand and, incidentally, sings two new songs.

"GUNS OF THE TIMBERLAND" will be given its premiere saturation showings in towns and cities throughout Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Kentucky.

U.S. Census Takers Start Work March 31, Penalty For Those Refusing To Answer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is about to count the divorcees in Hells Half Acre, Wyo., the bathtubs in Buncome County, N.C., and the population of the United States.

As part of the big once-a-decade census, every household in the country will be visited. So will every jail, skid row mission and nudist colony.

This will be the biggest and costliest census in the nation's history. The government will use 170,000 temporary workers, four electronic brains and 118 million dollars to count 180 million Americans.

The nose count will begin on the night of Thursday, March 31. The Census Bureau calls this T (for transient) night. Soon after dusk it will send its workers to all but the smallest hotels, motels and tourist courts to find out who's away from home.

All information collected about individuals is kept secret. Any census taker who talks out of turn is liable to two years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

On April 1 the visits to 55 million houses, grass huts, apartments and igloos will begin. Some interviewers will travel across Alaska by dog sled.

The final result will be a statistical portrait of America that will fill about 100,000 pages in more than 100 bound volumes. These big books will tell how many people were counted and also how they live and work.

There will be no information on how they worship. The Census Bureau bowed to protests that this would offend many people and might violate religious freedom.

People who do balk at answering census questions will be subjected to persuasion, then pressure. Those who refuse to answer, or answer falsely, will be courting a fine and jail sentence.

The census is authorized by the Constitution, which specifies that the states will be given seats in the House of representatives according to their population.

Reapportionment of the House thus is the chief reason for the new census—the 18th since Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson directed the first census in 1790. The reapportionment will take effect with the congress elected in January 1962.

Census statistics will also be the basis for parceling out various federal aid funds and for planning new schools and highways. Businessmen will use them to adjust sales campaigns to changing markets.

You'll probably have your first contact with the census late in March. At that time the government will send a copy of the principal census questions to every household on a mail route.

The plan is for you to answer these questions before the arrival of the enumerator. He will transcribe the data to his own forms.

Questions to be asked of everyone include name, relationship to head of household, sex, race, month and year of birth, and marital status.

Similar data will be asked about any guest who may have stayed overnight at your home on March 31.

All householders will be asked about cooking facilities, water supply, flush toilets, bathtubs and showers, number of rooms in the dwelling and whether the quarters are owned or rented.

At every fourth household, the enumerator will leave a more detailed questionnaire to be filled out and mailed to the nearest census office within three days.

Among other things, Uncle Sam will want to know the size, age and value of the living quarters. He'll also ask whether the residents own an auto, TV set, radio, washing machine, clothes dryer, food freezer or air conditioner.

Every person in every fourth household will also be asked about his job, income, education, ancestry and commuting arrangements.

Despite their best efforts, census takers won't reach everybody — some are sure to be missed. The Bureau believes it missed about two million people in 1950, when 151 million were counted.

Hoping for greater accuracy this year, the agency has adopted a "quality control" program and mustered a bank of electronic machines to digest and tabulate the reports of enumerators.

The first census results will be made public on a local basis during late April and May.

Final population figures and breakdowns by states, counties, cities, towns and villages will be announced by Dec. 1 and are expected to show the biggest population gain for any 10-year period in the nation's history.

BETTER PASTURES AND MEADOWS URGED BY ASC

Morgan county farmers can still apply for assistance under the Agricultural Conservation Program for establishing acreages in long term grasses and legumes. This should be particularly attractive to livestok and dairy producers, said Wallace Hembrough, office manager of the local ASC office.

Some of the 1960 program funds have been set aside for a few preferred practices, continued Mr. Hembrough, and "we would like to use this money sharing the costs with farmers in establishing good approved pasture mixtures such as alfalfa, brome, timothy. The long term production of this crop is considered to be sound conservation so the Government through the AC Program will share about 50 percent of the establishment cost with the farmer."

In return for this assistance the farmer must keep the pasture or meadow crop on the land for at least four years following the year in which the seeding is accomplished.

WELCOME SLEEP—THE MODERN WAY

In today's modern bedroom there is no room for furniture posturing. Every piece must perform—efficiently and beautifully. The modern bedroom, like all good bedrooms, should be planned around its most important function—sleep welcoming.

Colors should be restful: and distractions in decor should be kept to an absolute minimum. This doesn't mean that modern sleeping quarters should be plain and austere. Quite the opposite. A sense of serenity and security is essential, and this is usually achieved by having the colors that you associate with shelter and well-being around you, and by providing the little accouterments that fill your own personal comfort requirements.

Color scheme is composed of marine blue and sandalwood brown. This background plays up the beauty of the blond mahogany furniture.

A feminine note is introduced by the flowered dust ruffle under the quilted blue spread. Note how the bed has been placed with only the headboard against the wall to simplify bedmaking.

There is no substitute for quality. We offer you only high quality plus graceful styling at dollar-saving prices. We cordially invite you to come in and take plenty of time to look around before you make your selections. Remember, you get enduring worth with every piece of furniture we sell you.

Women, Who Own 52 Per Cent Of Nation's Securities, Give Brokers Tough Time

NEW YORK (AP)—That whirring sound you hear may be the wheels racing in the brains of the nation's women stockholders.

Statistics show that 52 per cent of the nation's securities are in feminine clutches. But it's not the grip of a firm, cool hand. Wall Street men say it's apt to be nervous and subject to emotional flutterings. They say female financial wizards are few and far between.

"More than half the country's wealth held by women?" says one investment man. "Ha! Men put their stock in their wives' names for tax purposes or because they're busy making more money.

"Then the men die young and that's how the women get control."

That might be putting it a bit strong, but the bulk of the giddy hat set does get into the market through husbands. Many are widows keeping a hand in management of the estate. Others are women of inherited wealth, businesswomen and housewives.

Anyone who has seen a woman struggle to balance her checkbook might doubt the extent of feminine interest in the world of finance.

But the census for 1959 has these figures: Among new shareowners, women outnumbered men last year by a margin of 56.3 per cent to 43.7. Some 6,347,000 women stockholders or 50.8 per cent of the total are now at large on the market—an increase of two million since 1956. More than 65 per cent are housewives or women who do not work.

They range from the sentimental female who holds a single share of stock in an auto firm (she rode on her first date in one of its cars) to the businesswoman who builds an $85,000 stake into two million dollars through shrewd investments.

Securities men say basically there's not much difference between men and women stockholders. But, says one broker, "when a woman is difficult, she's terrible."

"You want to see feminine logic?" says another broker. "A woman says buy, I buy, the stock goes down. Next thing I know, she's hollering, I didn't say to buy that stock?

"But if it goes up, she's the one who was smart."

"They listen to what they hear in cocktail bars and at the bridge table," says an investment adviser. "Then they come in with a 'terrific' tip and are ready to buy."

"One trouble is," says a Wall Street veteran, "you can't talk to a woman like you can a man. If they're making money, fine. But they blame you personally if they're not doing well."

OUTLAW NOISY FUNERALS

SINGAPORE (AP)—Police have outlawed the noisy gongs and cymbals traditionally accompanying Chinese funeral processions. Rival processions from secret societies used to meet en route to the cemetery and try to out-gong each other. To prevent the deafening din, the bereaved families will have to take the shortest route to the cemetery, submit a list of the mourners and play music only at graveside.

The table was beautifully appointed with a lace over yellow cloth centered with a floral arrangement of gold and white pompoms with glittered white candles in brass candle holders.

The tiered anniversary cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Wendell Brackett who was unable to attend. The party was planned by Mrs. Brackett and Mrs. Forrest Adkins with the assistance of other members of the society. The cake was served by Mrs. M. D. Brooklyn WSCS Meets March 2

The Brooklyn Woman's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday afternoon at the church with 12 members answering roll call. Three guests were also present.

Mrs. Charles Huffman, president, welcomed the members. Mrs. Lietze led the devotions, with all singing "A Charge to Keep I Have." Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson offered a prayer on stewardship.

Mrs. Lietze gave the program on the meaning of stewardship, stressing that stewardship should be practiced without grumbling, remembering the most important hour of the day is the one spent in worship. At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Lietze offered prayer.

The hymn, "Take My Life and Let It Be," was sung. Mrs. Huffman accompanied. Mrs. Henderson explained the worship table which she prepares for each meeting.

The minutes were read by the secretary and the treasurer's report was given. Several communications were read. A motion was made that the pledge for missions be raised to $75 for 1960-61.

Mrs. Wilmer Everett told of the different services to be held through the Council of Church Women. Mrs. Tom Muntman reported that the society had received the Cum Laude award for having completed four studies, meeting requirements for jurisdiction recognition during 1956-60 from the District Secretary of Missionary Education and Service.

Reservations for the annual district meeting, to be held March 30 at Beardstown, are to be sent by March 25. Mrs. Noel Lietze is to be contacted for transportation.

Mrs. Martha Stone reported several cards had been sent to the shut-ins and 40 sick calls had been made. Mrs. Huffman appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. Wilmer Everett, chairman; Mrs. Noel Lietze and Mrs. Edna Davidsmeyer.

Mrs. Clarence Bigler dismissed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson and Mrs. Emmett Anderson.

FINE WINTER LUNCHEON

For a winter luncheon salad plate, grapefruit and shrimp make a good combination. Add watercress or other greens and pass two kinds of salad dressing separately so guests can take their choice. One of the dressings might be low-calorie.

Another Farm Problem:

The Broadening Blight Of Our Rural Decay

By MARY KAY FLYNN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ARROW ROCK, Mo.—(NEA)—Broadening rural decay is accompanying the gradual disappearance of American family farm life as Grandma used to know it.

Small towns and villages, once surrounded by prosperous farms, are desperately trying for survival in the wake of an exodus of farmers to the cities.

A short drive down many a gravel road will reveal a losing battle. Abandoned schools, churches, farmhouses and barns stand amid weeds and brush. Some of the deserted buildings are used for storage of grain and machinery.

In Arrow Rock, one of the oldest towns in central Missouri and formerly an important stop on the old Santa Fe Trail, three Protestant churches have consolidated with the combined congregation still numbering only about 50 persons each Sunday. Residents, faced with a steadily declining farm economy, have moved away.

At New Hampton, a strictly rural area in the northern part of the state, more than half the houses are occupied by single individuals — usually old-age pensioners.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently estimated that 40 per cent of the nation's farmers have extra jobs and that farming accounts for only two-thirds of the farmer's total net income. To some others, the farm serves merely as a "sleeping place."

Often called "sundown" or "time-and-a-half farmers," these two-job men are employed by the government; on construction projects and in factories, restaurants and business establishments. They farm evenings, weekends and holidays.

One farmer, bitter over the financial plight of his rural neighbors, remarked:

"For years farm children have been gathering walnuts and marketing them in town for spending money; this year the adults were gathering up walnuts."

• • •

In order to supplement sagging incomes, many farm wives hold down other jobs, too. In Missouri, several garment factories supply buses which haul farm women to and from work.

Farm authorities and the farmer may differ on the factors contributing to the steady national decline of farm income and the number of farms, but all agree on one thing: new, serious problems

BAPTIST CHURCH, Arrow Rock, Mo: At the last service, there were five persons in the congregation.

—personal and social—are being created.

To 48-year-old Lawrence Bowers of Delia, Kan., who has spent a lifetime on the farm, the problem is personal. His voice filled with emotion, he explained that he is quitting the farm because he "can't make ends meet" despite expansion and working 16 hours a day.

"I had more money when milking only 14 cows than I do now with a Grade A barn and 34 cows," he lamented.

• • •

"The social consequences of the migration from rural areas reaches far beyond our rural communities," says Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers Assn. "The farm problem is intertwined with the big cities' problems of snarled traffic, congested schools and added taxes."

Heinkel contends that fair and equitable prices for agricultural products would restore prosperity to rural areas and reduce some of the pressure on urban communities.

But Jack Cornelius, president of the Oklahoma State Board of Agriculture, says that the reasons for the "alarming migration" (mostly westward) of farm people from Oklahoma are complex. He believes it would take much more than balanced farm prices to "keep 'em down on the farm."

Cornelius cited vertical integration, which crowds out family farms; mechanization, with resulting larger farms, and "unorganized farm operators operating in an organized economy" as contributing to the dilemma.

As a member of the board of regents of Oklahoma State University, Cornelius noted that there has been a steady decrease of agriculture majors in the state's colleges in the past decade. A reason for that is seen perhaps in the experience of Donnie Vaughn, 22, who, according to his neighbors, had one of the best young herds of dairy cattle in the Weaubleau, Mo., area and was an excellent operator. Vaughn has sold the herd and leased a filling station.

"I can make the same money with less investment," he explained.

Wage-Product Problem Threatens Rail Passenger Service, I.U. Economist Says

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—The future of railway passenger service is menaced by the same threat which helped put the electric interurban lines out of business, says a University of Illinois economist.

This threat, explains Prof. John F. Due, is the failure of output pre worker to increase in a period of increasing industrial productivity.

Discussing "The Life Cycle of an Industry — the Electric Interurban Railway" in a current University economics publication, Prof. Due said:

"Both commuter and main-line railroad service can be preserved for a substantial period (short of subsidies) only by improved productivity per employe."

He said in many instances union rules and state regulations force the roads to use more men than are necessary. Without revision of labor contracts, railway passenger service will be destroyed, he said.

The professor found that while hourly wage rates in the interurban industry were 10 times as high in 1957 as in 1912, fares had only doubled. The interurbans weren't able to reduce the number of employes because of the nature of the operations and because of labor union policy, so productivity per employe did not increase.

Prof. Due concludes, "The problem would have been serious even without motor vehicle competition, the combination of the two forces was fatal."

In the heyday of electric travel (the turn of the century until the early '20s) any person so inclined could have traveled by trolley car from Chicago to New York, except for a 60-mile stretch.

Today most of the thousands of miles of interurban lines have been abandoned. Only three lines the Chicago, South Shore and South Bend and the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee, radiating south and north from Chicago and the Long Beach line of the Pacific Electric system of Los Angeles.

Workshop For Instructors In Nursing

Forty-five nursing instructors from Illinois State Hospitals' In-service, Practical Nursing, and Basic Professional Psychiatric Nursing Programs participated in a two-day workshop on Test Construction on Feb. 29 and Mar. 1, at the Jacksonville State Hospital.

The Workshop, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Shields, Director of the Test Construction Unit, National League for Nursing, New York, was planned by Mrs. Louise A. Meyer, the Illinois Department of Public Welfare Chief of Nursing Education.

At general sessions Mrs. Shields discussed the evaluation of the principles of testing, the pre-test, principles of test construction, the use of National standardized tests, measurement of specific objectives, and factors effecting the usefulness of tests.

In small work groups of six to eight the participants developed, discussed and revised test items related to the courses taught in their respective programs.

The instructors from the In-service Aide Programs continued their workshop through Friday, working on the course content of the Psychiatric Aide Program on Wednesday and Thursday, and meeting jointly with the Directors of the Nursing Services of the various State Hospitals on Friday.

Patty Omundsen and Peggy Sullivan showed articles the troop members had made from the time they began as Brownies until the present. Troop No. 27 has specialized in basketry, making articles for themselves and for others as well. One year they made 40 baskets for patients at Oaklawn Sanatorium.

The girls of Troop No. 63 specialize in singing. They gave a 15-minute program of varied songs, rounds, Girl Scout numbers and action or fun songs.

Members who participated were: Eleanor Aiken, Sharon Choate, Sharon Combs, Diane Cruse, Donna German, Alice Henderson, Julie Mentler, Lenda Votsmier, Jane Wright, Chris Daniel, Carol Vieira, Teresa Savoy.

Mrs. Ralph Sullivan is leader of Troop No. 27 and is also president of Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Howard Choate is leader of Troop No 63 and is first vice-president of the Council.

Pancakes and sausage will be served at McClelland dining hall MacMurray College from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, March 28th.

Tickets are $1.00 each.

One guest, Wayne Foote of Jacksonville, was present.

New Atomic Clock Achieves Unique Degree Of Accuracy

By ROBERT MOORE

BOULDER, Colo., (AP)—Imagine, if you can, setting your watch only once every 1,000 years. Imagine, too, that 1,000 years hence you'd find your watch accurate to within a single second.

This concept illustrates the accuracy of a new atomic "clock" which has been perfected by scientists at the National Bureau of Standards' Boulder laboratories. The project was started in 1946.

Announcement of the unique accuracy which the clock achieves was made Friday by Dr. Richard C. Mockler.

Actually, the new instrument is a standard of frequency instead of time. It helps maintain the accuracy of radio signals broadcast by the bureau so that power companies know they are sending 60-cycle current into your home.

It also assures that radio and TV stations are transmitting on their assigned frequency and that the electronics industry can accurately measure the frequency of electrical energy.

The clock ascertains the vibration rate of atoms of cesium, a soft silvery metallic element mined in South Dakota. The metal's atoms vibrate 9,200,000,000 times per second, fast enough to offer great accuracy and yet slow enough to be detected by current instrumentation.

The new clock measures both time and frequency by the "ticks" of cesium atoms. Dr. Mockler said it is believed to be the most accurate such instrument in the world and is "10 times more accurate than any previous NBS clock."

"Until recently, the nation's most precise standard of frequency has been provided by the vibration of quartz disks in electronic oscillators," Dr. Mockler explained. "For short periods — days—these are almost as precise as atomic standards. Yet, quartz tends to age. Over longer periods of time, its rate of vibration changes in an unpredictable fashion.

"The new cesium block doesn't suffer from the aging effects of quartz, and—although it is primarily a standard of frequency—it can measure short periods of time to tremendous accuracies which are equivalent to the loss of less than one second in 1,000 years."

William Jennings Bryan, at the age of 36, was the youngest man ever nominated for the presidency of the United States.

Gary attended Murrayville schools before high school. He completed his basic training and engineer corps training at Fort Leonard Wood. He was then taken to Fort Dix, N.J., before leaving for Europe.

MISS COLBERT READY TO RETURN

New York (AP)Having finished her profitable run on Broadway with Charles Boyer in the comedy, "Marriage Go Round," Claudette Colbert has gone to what she considers her permanent home in Beverly Hills.

But, she wants to return to Broadway and is scanning scripts for a serious role. Miss Colbert played a very serious role in "Dynamo," a play by Eugene O'Neill which had a short life at Broadway's Martin Beck Theater several years ago.

RECEIVES COOKING SCHOOL RANGE

Mrs. Evelyn Backs, 273 South Main White Hall, receives the grand prize of a 30 inch electric range from Don Shumaker, owner of Shumaker's TV and Appliance Co., Friday night at the final session of KITCHEN CLASSICS.

The cooking school has been presented as a public service by the Journal Courier since 1935. The four-day event ended Friday evening. All sessions were held at the Illinois School for the Deaf auditorium.

Cooking School Recipes

AMBASSADOR'S POT-ROAST

3 to 4-pound beef arm pot-roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1/3 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup water
3 medium onions, sliced
2 tablespoons water
1 cup dairy sour cream

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge pot-roast in seasoned flour. Save remaining seasoned flour. Brown meat on both sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add 1/2 cup water and sliced onions. Cover tightly and simmer 3 to 3 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat to hot platter. Mix remaining flour with 2 tablespoons water, add to cooking liquid, and cook until thickened. Fold in sour cream. Heat and serve with pot-roast. 6 to 8 servings.

VERSATILE YEAST ROLLS

Fiedlers Attend Area Crusade Of Cancer Society

Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Fiedler and Mrs. Paul J. Davidsmeyer were the guests of Harry J. Hemingway at the Area Crusade Meeting of the American Cancer Society, held Tuesday at the St. Nicholas Hotel in Springfield.

Hemingway, who is the president of the Sessions Engineering Co. of Chicago, is the general chairman of the 1960 Cancer Crusade for the state of Illinois. He presided at the dinner meeting, which he hosted for 125 cancer chairmen and workers from 22 counties in this part of the state.

Dr. John A. Rogers, Executive Director of the Illinois Division, and Robert Krit, Crusade Director, also spoke concerning the progress that has been made in medical research and the part our contributions as citizens have played in the saving of well over a million lives of cancer patients. Just a few years ago these patients would have had no hope of recovering.

Dr. Rogers expressed the hope that the society would some day soon cease to exist because, as in the dreaded polio, a cure will be found. Because of the fact that of all Americans now living 45,000,000 will die of cancer unless a cure can be found it is all the more important that we fight cancer with a check and a check-up, now.

During the month of April over 2,000,000 Americans will take part in the Cancer Crusade, helping to raise the money necessary to make possible the research that some day will help to end this disease.

Fiedler is the local Chapter Chairman for Morgan County, and will direct the Crusade in this area.

4-Day Cooking School Programs Completed; 3100 Attend Sessions

More than 3100 persons attended the four sessions of KITCHEN CLASSICS cooking school completed Friday evening at the Illinois School for the Deaf auditorium. Heavy snow and cold weather kept a large number of patrons away from the informative meetings but those who attended the school were convinced of the many benefits derived from this educational, entertaining event.

Many thousands of dollars worth of meat are actually sizzled away every year in the nation's kitchens because of being cooked at too high a temperature, according to Miss Janice Plager, lecturer at the annual cooking school.

The school was presented as a public service by the Jacksonville Journal Courier.

Mrs. Evelyn Backs, 273 South Main Street, White Hall, was awarded the grand prize of the annual event — a $219.95 RCA Whirlpool 30 inch Electric Range, presented by Shumaker's TV and Appliances, 222 East State Street.

Mrs. Backs was present to accept the grand prize from Don Shumaker, one of the cooperating merchants.

New Ideas

New tips, new ideas, new recipes, labor-saving hints and nutrition notes were a part of each session, all designed to make the homemaker's kitchen activities bright challenges rather than drab chores.

Salads, desserts and meat dishes were all featured among the recipes which are demonstrated in the complete kitchen on the stage.

The last day of the school had an international flavor. Several of the recipes were food classics of foreign lands.

A total of more than 40 tasteful dishes were presented and demonstrated during the school's four day schedule.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Demand for butcher hogs continued good this week and with the supply again small, prices were strong to 25 cents higher for the period.

With the top price climbing to $15.50 and the average cost to $14.91, both new peaks since August, buyers noted that the market has worked higher every week since the start of the year.

Receipts at the 12 major markets for the week were the smallest for any five-day period since last July.

The cattle supply was about 4 per cent larger than for the previous week but offerings of slaughter steers were not more than moderate and that class was steady to $1.50 higher with the full advance on choice and prime grades.

Gains of $1.00 to $1.50 in steer carcass prices had a strengthening influence in the pens.

The week's sheep supply of 6,500 head was up 7 per cent from the previous week and consisted mainly of wooled slaughter lambs. These sold $1.00 higher, some bringing $23.00 a hundredweight, the highest since August.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market this week, hexed by a "bear market signal" in the Dow Jones average, plummeted to its worst weekly loss since October 1957.

An estimated $9,400,000,000 was shorn from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in The Associated Press average.

This put the total quoted value of stocks listed on that exchange roughly at 279 billion dollars.

The market declined during every session this week and marred budding hopes for a 'spring rally" fostered by higher prices in the two preceding weeks.

Sellers rushed to unload Thursday when the Dow Jones rail average plunged below its November low of 146.5 as it fell 3.92 to 142.98. According to followers of the Dow theory — and there are many on Wall Street—this "confirmed" the February drop of the Dow industrials to a new low and therefore a "bear market" was official.

Many Wall Street analysts do not hold with the Dow theory and say similar "bear signals" in 1953 and 1957 caused merely a temporary interruption in the 10-year bull market. Nevertheless, the theory is held in enough respect so that discouraged selling reached quite a pitch.

Volume swelled to 16,239,695 shares compared with 12,689,645 the week before and was the largest since the week ended Feb. 20 when 17,290,350 shares were traded.

The AP 60-stock average fell 7.10 to 211.50, matching its level of Feb. 9, 1959. It was the worst weekly break since the "sputniked" week ended Oct. 11, 1957 when the AP average lost 8.20.

Of 1,416 issues traded this week on the exchange, only 286 advanced while 1,016 declined. New 1959-'60 highs totaled 39 and new lows 227.

Most active issue this week on the New York Stock Exchange was American Motors (new), unchanged at 24 on 425,200 shares. Most active on the American Stock Exchange was Brown Co., up ⅛ at 14⅛ on 156,700 shares.

Trading started slowly but closed with a rush. Corporate bonds had their busiest day of the year Friday with a turnover of $8,160,000 par value on the big board.

OATS, BEANS POST BIG GAINS, WHEAT, CORN MIXED

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market posted some of its best gains in a month this week on a combination of factors. It also had some of its steepest setbacks in two weeks or more.

Oats and soybeans were the big gainers, rye was the broadest loser. Wheat and corn prices were mixed, moving up on old crop contracts and falling back on the new.

Weather became more of a long range market consideration than it had been for some time. The succession of snowfalls over much of the Great Plains continued to be a boon to the 1960 winter wheat crop for its protection against a cold wave at midweek and for the moisture it will provide when the grain emerges from dormancy in the next few weeks.

But traders talked, too, of the probable delay it will cause in spring field work. One brokerage firm mentioned that the snow and cold wave had come at a time when a warming trend is needed. It said planting of oats and barley should have been started.

Reports that oats planting generally has been delayed probably was the strengthening factor in that grain. With advances of about 1½ cents for the week, some deliveries were within two cents or so of their highs for the season.

Moreover, reports persisted of a large volume of wet corn throughout much of the Midwest. One report said that it contains too much moisture to be eligible for the government loan and is in danger of spoilage when warm weather comes.

March and May rye sank to new season lows on three successive days and closed at their lows for the week. Losses in those deliveries over the past three weeks have run to about 6 cents.

Otherwise trade reacted frequently to the volume of delivery notices on March contracts. Although these were large in some grains at times, retenders were relatively small and on Thursday shorts were strong bidders to cover commitments.

At the end of the week, wheat was ¾-cent a bushel higher to ¾ lower, March $1.97⅝-¾; corn 1 cent highe to ¾ lower, March $1.13-12⅝; oats 1⅛-1⅜ higher, March 75¼; rye 1-2½ cents lower, March $1.19⅛; soybeans ¾ - 1⅜ higher, March $2.10⅛-⅜.

sunny and mild weather. The storm that howled through the southern part of the state, veered to sea — bypassing the rest of Maine.

Elsewhere, biting cold prevailed over most of the nation east of the Rockies. Frigid temperatures ranging from zero to 10 above at noon were reported from the north and central plains into the middle and upper Mississippi Valley.

A few locally severe squalls dumped up to 12 inches of new snow in the western Great Lakes region. A foot of additional snow fell in some sections of extreme southwest Michigan. An overnight fall of 10 inches left a 21-inch accumulation in South Bend, Ind.

The intense cold early Saturday set new records for a March 5 in many cities through the Midwest. In Iowa, the temperature dipped to a record 31 below, while Lemars reported -26, Sioux City, -22 and Spencer -21.

Atlanta, Ga., with a reading of 10 above, had the coldest March 5 in the city's history.

At Bemidji, Minn., the mercury fell to -27. Minneapolis - St. Paul shivered in -8 degree cold, the lowest reading for a March 5 in the Twin Cities in more than 30 years.

Snow was scattered from the plains into the northern half of the Rockies. Freezing rain mixed with snow fell over interior regions of the Pacific Northwest while rain occurred from western Michigan into central California.

Sunny skies prevailed over the Mississippi Valley into the south Atlantic coast states. Mild weather held sway in the Southwest.

Ike Delays Trip Home, Feels Fine But Still Hoarse

RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico (AP) — President Eisenhower, resting in the balmy Caribbean from his South American tour, decided Saturday to put off his return to Washington until Monday afternoon. He originally planned to fly back Sunday.

Late Saturday afternoon Eisenhower, in good spirits and looking more chipper than he had for the past 48 hours, played nine holes of golf at the Ramey course near his quarters.

The President, who waited until the weather had cooled a bit, toured the course with Hagerty; Col. William G. Draper, his Air Force aide and pilot; and Brig. Gen. Joseph J. Preston, Ramey commandant.

Eisenhower is feeling fine generally, but is still hoarse, White House Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen in announcing that the President will prolong his stay at this U. S. Strategic Air Command base.

Eisenhower arrived Thursday night tired out after his 10-day tour. He said with a smile he was bushed.

Supporting evidence came Friday when the President, who usually shoots in the 80s, took a 25-over-par 97 in a foursome under a scorching sun on the Dorado Beach Club's championship 18-hole golf course. Russell (Rusty) Gilbert, the Dorado club pro, said: "He is just tired and worn out."

A date for another game Saturday morning was canceled.

Within a few days after his return he will make a nationwide radio-TV report on his tour of Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay. He started work on that report at his quarters Saturday morning.

He was joined by his brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, and by Roy R. Rubottom, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, who made the tour with him.

Racial Violence Flares In South Carolina

Thirty-six orderly Negro high school pupils, accompanied by the state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People staged the fourth sitdown demonstration this week at a downtown Tampa, Fla., variety store lunch counter.

The youngsters were refused service. More than 15 policemen stood behind the group and other patrolmen were stationed at the store entrance. A police photographer took several pictures but declined to say if they were to be used for identification in case of arrests.

The protests spread to Orlando, Fla., about 90 miles northeast of Tampa. About 15 Negro high school students, including one girl, staged brief sitdowns at lunch counters of two Orlando variety stores.

At Houston, Tex., which had its first demonstration Friday at a supermarket, about 10 Negroes appeared at a drug store lunch counter and were refused service. A larger group returned to the supermarket, but found its lunch counter had been closed.

Merchant Shoots, Kills Prowler As He Enters Store

LACLEDE, Mo. (AP) — Authorities said a merchant, awakened by two noisy prowlers in a nearby drugstore, shot and killed one of them early Saturday as he stepped through the door of his general store.

The Highway Patrol identified the dead man as Robert Joseph Moore, 20, of Brookfield, Mo., who they said broke into three other stores here with a 13-year-old half-brother before meeting death in the fourth. The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Moore and his half-brother, both of whom were unarmed, broke into the Trowbridge drug store, H. C. Engeberg grocery and the Johnson tavern.

They took a cigarette lighter from the drug store, about $2.50 from the grocery and $8-10 from coin boxes on a juke box and cigarette machine in the tavern.

Then they headed for Alfred L. Davis' general store. Davis, worried about a series of burglaries in the area, had slept in his store for five consecutive nights.

Early Saturday Davis awakened. He heard the sound of breaking glass in the drug store. Then he heard a pounding noise as the intruders knocked the combination off a safe. Davis took up a position inside his darkened store and waited.

Finch Jury Asks To Hear Doctor's Testimony Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The jury Saturday asked to hear once more Dr. R. Bernard Finch's testimony about the day his wife was shot to death.

Reading of an estimated 400 pages of transcript began Saturday afternoon in open court. Attorneys said it would continue Monday.

Jurors emerged from seclusion in the virtually empty county courthouse to make their request following a morning of deliberation.

Their attention evidently was focused on the actual shooting of Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch and the events immediately preceding it.

Grant B. Cooper, Finch's lawyer, read his client's direct testimony to the jury. As he read, Cooper was half-buried in the witness stand behind stacks of transcript —amounting to two million words, the equivalent of 25 book-length novels.

Prosecutor Fred N. Whichello will read the testimony the doctor gave under cross-examination.

The two defendants were present—as required by California law —when Cooper reread the testimony.

The jury was locked up at 4:45 p.m. It will reconvene 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Before they were locked up, the jurors had heard 63 of the estimated 400 pages they had asked to hear.

Two other requests by the jury foreman, Treasury Agent A. W. Alm, were turned down by the judge. One was for a .38-caliber revolver, the other for a pair of rubber surgical gloves similar to those Dr. Finch has testified he used in playing with his dog the night of the slaying.

The judge said neither item was in evidence.

California law does not permit a jury to have the transcript while deliberating. Testimony must be reread to the jurors under controlled conditions.

The jury must decide whether Mrs. Finch's death was an accident, as the doctor and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, contend, or a cold-blooded murder, as the state says.

On the finding of the seven women and five men may hinge the lives of the rich suburban surgeon and his onetime receptionist.

The jury reconvened at 8:30 a.m. Saturday after having deliberated 95 minutes Friday.

MAN RISKS LIFE TO AVOID ENDANGERING OTHERS

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP)— William Jones of Effingham made certain his burning propane gas truck would not endanger any bystanders.

Jones' vehicle caught fire Friday as he was going through the center of Robinson. Instead of abandoning his truck, he yelled to some boys to call the fire department, then drove the truck to the edge of Robinson.

Although the tank was empty, Fire Chief Harry Drake said there was danger of explosion from the fumes. The fire department put out the flames, started by a wheel bearing.

Castro Blames 'U.S. Officials' For Ship Blast

from the same people "who are planning to cut our sugar quota."

Without singling out any nation, President Osvaldo Dorticos said on TV that the explosion "had all the characteristics of a barbarous and criminal attack on the people of Cuba."

Neither officials nor newspapers furnished any proof for accusations that a time bomb or other device caused the blast. The independent newspaper Informacion suggested the collapse of a loading net may have touched off the first of two blasts that wrecked the ship and spread death and ruin over the docks.

But a spokesman for union harbor workers rejected this suggestion, saying all his men were experienced in handling explosives.

Maj. Juan Almeida, Army chief, refused to say whether there was sabotage after visiting the shattered 4,300-ton ship, adding: "It is difficult to say because I am not an authority on explosions."

Daniel M. Braddock, U.S. charge d'affaires, refused to comment on the charges. He conveyed his government's sympathies to the Cuban government and offered any possible assistance.

Revolucion said one reason for the detention of Chapman was that he had taken a number of pictures of the ship en route from Antwerp.

In Omaha, an associate said Chapman formerly was a photographer for station WOW-TV. News Director James McGaffin said Chapman wrote his former associates frequently saying he was selling a few pictures and was enjoying his trip. Since leaving last September for a trip to Europe, Chapman has been a free-lance photographer, McGaffin said.

At North Bend, Chapman's 15-year-old brother Dick said the family had a letter from him just before he sailed saying he planned to work his way home. That would account for Chapman's presence as a passenger on the ship.

The disaster area was cordoned off and extra precautions were taken for rescue workers and investigators after 10 workmen were injured Saturday morning by two small explosions.

Police said the blasts apparently came from two grenades, part of the ship's cargo and hurled onto the dock by the explosions. The grenades were struck by workers searching through the debris.

Radio broadcasts warned citizens not to pick up debris. It was feared hand grenades and other explosives may have been blown far from the docks.

Whatever testimony was given by eyewitnesses on the cause of the first blast—which came as 76 tons of munitions were being unloaded—was being closely guarded.

Among those available to testify were some of the French crewmen who were in the forward, relatively undamaged part of the ship at the time of the explosions. The ship had a crew of 37. Of these, 6 are dead. The remaining 31 were on shore or in the stern of the ship.

FILIBUSTERERS REST UNTIL MONDAY

need as much sleep as they thought they did, and declared that "we will never be intimidated by any talk-fest."

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) leader of the Southern filibusterers, said just as firmly that he could see "no area of compromise."

When the Senate recessed at 5:31 p.m., it had been in continuous session for 125 hours and 31 minutes since last Monday noon with the exception of one 15-minute break.

In 1954, in a battle over an atomic energy bill, the Senate stayed in session for 35 hours and 23 minutes including time out for one 24-minute recess. That was a record until this week.

The round-the-clock session that started last Monday was interrupted for 15 minutes early Wednesday morning, then started again at 7:23 a.m. and kept going for 82 hours and 3 minutes until a halt was called late Saturday afternoon.

This easily topped the previous record of 54 hours and 10 minutes for a nonstop session set in 1915 during a filibuster against a ship purchase bill urged by the late President Woodrow Wilson.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D-Ga) had been speaking for a little more than an hour when, by previous agreement, he yielded to Johnson to make the recess motion. About half a dozen senators were on the floor.

The civil rights issue was brought before the Senate by Johnson on Feb. 15, and next week will mark the start of the fourth week of the debate.

OIL WELL BURSTS INTO FLAME

HOMER, Mich. (AP) — An oil well, in a wildcat field east of Homer, burst into flame Friday night, destroying equipment valued at an estimated $300,000.

The well, called the "Rosnau-Trader N. 1," is owned by Perry Fulk, who owns 13 other wells in the area.

The Calvert Petroleum Co., of Olney, Ill., was drilling the well. Most of the loss covered equipment of the Calvert firm.

Struggle For Survival In Sectionals Begins

FAN BREEZES

BY STAN SPOTTS

Journal Courier Sports Editor

Before getting into some sectional tournament facts and figures, I would like to commend host Jacksonville High, the IHS Band, the seven losers, and champion New Berlin for a splendid showing this past week which gave basketball followers in this area the finest tournament they could possibly want to witness. A week ago, I stated than any one of six teams could reap regional laurels. I was wrong—it could have been any of the eight entries. The opening night saw favored New Berlin beat Franklin, 50-45, and then JHS take ISD in the nightcap, 55-54.

—O—

Second night action saw Routt beating Waverly, 72-50, the largest margin of the affair separating any two teams, but it took a 30-point final canto for the Rockets to get the nod. Then there was an overtime—the only one of the four day session—with Winchester receiving a 59-57 win over Virginia Semifinal action brought New Berlin a 52-50 victory over JHS and then Routt topped Winchester by 12 points, 61-49, with another fine fourth stanza.

—O—

No matter how you break the close scores down, it was New Berlin all the way with its poise and polish. The Pretzels had the most important part in their favor—the desire to win—and they couldn't be denied although they found themselves trailing a number of times. When they kept coming from behind they showed me they had the earmarkings of a steady outfit. And breaking that 19-year jinx couldn't happen to a nicer guy as Bill Hovey is one of the finest men in the coaching ranks.

—O—

It was on the humorous side and is worth mentioning. When Jim Bonds of ISD was asked how his Tigers would fare against JHS before the game, Jim said, "We'll do all right if the kids don't let the name of JHS scare them before we take the floor. If I thought they (the officials) wouldn't mind, I'd like all five of my starters to act as co-captains. It seems the boy chosen to act as co-captain always plays a good game and maybe I could beat the Crimsons this way." When the officials got the team captains together, I noticed Bonds had three players serving as spokesmen for the Tigers and two of them got 35 points between them. This serves to prove you can't keep a good captain down.

—O—

When the final horn sounded Friday night with New Berlin on top, 47-43, it marked the first time since 1941 that a Pretzel quintet had won a regional. And oddly enough, the last crown was at Jacksonville. I called on Walt Tamblin, a member of that squad, to supply me with the names of some of his teammates Saturday morning. The 1941 aggregation consisted of Warner Bergschneider, their outstanding 6-4 center and scoring ace, Ed Roesch, James Marr, Bill Wenneborg, Tamblin, Walt Bridges, Ken Fisher and Jim Short.

—O—

1940 and 1941 brought consecutive regional honors and in 1942 the Pretzels played in their third straight sectional although they placed second in the Virginia regional with a triple overtime loss to the Redbirds. New Berlin ousted Lanphier and Springfield in the 1940 Springfield regional but lost to Taylorville in the sectional opener. After beating Virginia for the Jacksonville regional honors in 1941, the Pretzels dropped a sectional encounter to Pittsfield Although they were brides-maids in the '42 regional, New Berlin was advanced to the Taylorville sectional where it lost a three-point decision to Ron Bontemps and company. 1941 produced a 29 win, two loss record. When New Berlin ended the regional drought Friday night, there wasn't a happier bunch of guys anywhere as many of the '41 regional champs were in attendance to watch five Pretzels play, who weren't born, when New Berlin last harvested a regional field.

—O—

Each year I usually give a little blast if the officiating isn't up to par. 1960 tourney games at the Bowl won't produce any comments from me as it is hardly worth the effort. I know the pair well enough to speak and carry on a conversation but they are more lax on the floor than they are in the dressing rooms. 'Nough said!

—O—

All seats for the JHS Sectional are reserved and no student tickets will be sold at the door. The Bowl has a seating capacity of approximately 2,900. Tickets will be allotted in accordance with the IHSA distribution plan. All unsold tickets from the participating schools will be returned to the host school for sale at the door. The single games each each evening, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday begin promptly at eight o'clock. Gymnasium doors open at seven p.m.

—O—

Is blood thicker than water? Or does being from the same home town make any difference at this stage of the IHSA phase of elimination tournaments? These questions matter very little when tip-off time rolls around and this will hold especially for two old Loami residents, Ray Page of Springfield High and Bill Hovey of the Pretzels, when they match wits in the sectional opener Wednesday evening. And Jerry Sullivan, the brother of Tim, the lad that sparked New Berlin's championship drive in the final period Friday night with eight points, graduated with Ray.

—O—

The big question here is what team is powerful enough to cope with Page's Senators? New Berlin will probably give the Solons their toughest assignment but Springfield's height, defense and balanced scoring should more then be the deciding factor. However, if Compardo, Sullivan, Bond and Harney should have a good night as they are capable of doing, then an upset is possible. The 1959 state champions are seeking their third straight trip to the Champaign finals and they won't feel like taking a back seat to anyone. Besides, producing winners and being from Loami, Hovey and Page still have a lot in common as both graduated from Western University, Macomb.

—O—

Springfield goes after its third straight sectional title with a mark of 25 wins against four defeats. With Page at the helm for the fifth straight year, the Senators placed second in the East St. Louis Holiday tourney with Collinsville administering the loss. Ray wasn't too sure of his chances against Feitshans Friday night as he stated in a telephone conversation, "You'd better get Feitshans' roster instead of ours as I have a funny feeling about tonight's outcome." The answer to his reply—I'll see you over here Wednesday night, "I hope you're right," Page commented. And the Senators were never better in presenting Ray with his 113th win against 24 defeats in a decisive 60-43 verdict over the Flyers.

—O—

Springfield has every mark in its favor with a good offensive punch supplied by Bob Plohr, a 16 point average, Lee Pelham, a 12 point game mark and Tom Frick with a respectable 12 point game figure. City Champs for two straight years, the Senators also have balanced height with Plohr, Pelhem, Neff and Frick dominating the boards.

—O—

It's a small oddity in a way but none of the four sectional contenders has ever met on the hardcourt this season. You can't count New Berlin out of the championship race but I look for the Pretzels to be four wins shy and with the same loss mark as compiled by the 1941 squad of 29-2 when they go against the Senators Wednesday. Should they lose, New Berlin has accomplished something anyway this season that no other Pretzel team has been able to do for 19 and 18 years. That is to win the Regional and the Sangamon County Conference tournament—the first—in 18 seasons. Hovey's overall won. loss mark in eight season stands at 157 in 209 outings. Compardo and Bond are the Pretzel offensive weapons while Bond, Harney and Compardo spearhead the defensive boards. Sullivan has also been a steady performer, averaging 12 points a game. He and Compardo are the 'clutch' players for the Pretzels—that means getting the points at the crucial time.

—O—

The lower bracket of the sectional pits Coach George Havens' Jerseyville Panthers against Forman of Manito Thursday night. Coach Earl Neeman's Braves have won 20 and lost eight and they were a surprise in the Havana Regional by ousting second-seeded Mason City, 51-50. Forman lost to Farmington but triumphed over Abingdon and Rich Township for consolation honors in the Canton holiday tournament. In the Mason County Conference event, Forman suffered defeats at the hands of Havana and Balyki. For Coach Neeman, an East St. Louis native and a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan, this is his third year at Forman and his second as varsity coach. Last year the Neeman five compiled a 19-8 mark and Friday's victory gave the Manito coach an overall two-year-record of 39 wins against 16 defeats.

—O—

Forman's top gunner is senior J. D. Proehl who is scoring 19 points a game. In his three outings at Havana he scored 67 points. Ben Meddleton and Dale Burks are 2-3 in the scoring with a 12 point game average. Middleton and Larry Scranton are Forman's aces off the boards. Six of the regulars are seniors.

—O—

Havens' squad is young and lacks experience according to his reports but nevertheless they are close to the .500 mark with a 13-14 record counting victories in the White Hall regional. Havens' who is in his 20th year of coaching and his 10th at Jerseyville lost seven lettermen from last year's squad which compiled a 25-5 record and bowed to Madison in the sectional playoffs. Gail Gisy, Jerseyville's 6-4 center and scoring leader with a game average of 25 points, dunked in 35 points against the Maroons in the finals Friday. Tom Andes, a guard, carries an 18 point game mark. Gisy and Egelhoff carry the rebounding load. Up till Regional time, Jerseyville hadn't fared too well in tournament play, losing twice in double elimination in the Pontiac Tourney and dropping a couple of more in the Dupo event. Although basketball produces some odd scores, I don't look for the winner of the Thursday night contest to give the Senators much of a scrap. Here I'm counting New Berlin out and it shouldn't be done as the ball sometimes takes odd and funny bounces. IT'S happened before and to better teams than Springfield High.

—O—

Bob Carpenter of Feitshans felt his Flyers were ready to get past the Senators in their finals and he based his opinion on City Tournament results. It seems the Flyers haven't won a City game in three years in nine games. However, Feitshans waits until the regional to do its damage and this is what Carpenter likes. The Flyer mentor says he has only one all-state candidate in senior Hiram Jackson, who wound up a three year scoring mark of 1,111 points in the loss to the Pagemen. Jackson collected 24, 13 and eight points in the second phase of the IHSA elimination process.

—O—

Prior to the Jacksonville Regional I polled the coaches on the team they picked to win. Jim Bower of Franklin, John Murray of Virginia and Jim Bonds of ISD favored New Berlin. Jack Renfro picked any of the four top-seeded teams and Dick Aiken of Waverly voted for JHS. The 1-2 ranked coaches failed to register as they couldn't be favoring any team but their own. As Coach Bob Winstead put it, "It'd be a heck of a note if I leaned toward New Berlin and my kids knew about it. No SIR, it's Routt or no one."

—O—

Gaining the regional finals was Winstead's first experience in four years at Routt and the Rockets almost came through with their first regional scalp in five years. But New Berlin's height contained Routt's speed. Winstead's overall mark in the coaching ranks is 70 wins against 40 defeats. And for my money there are no nicer coaches around than Hovey and Winstead, who conduct themselves like gentlemen on the bench and have complete charge of their respective teams. And I could name about 35 other coaches we give coverage to.

—O—

Just to clear one small matter up concerning by-lines on a story, this is done to protect the innocent. If there is any h--- to be raised about what was written then the irate fan can go to the writer directly to air his beefs. Believe me, lots of times it takes plenty of guts and it's not done to see our name in print.

—O—

Not to put the kiss of death on any team but I would like to see Toby Smith's Pittsfield Saukees win their start against Quincy Wednesday night. It would also be nice to see Pittsfield get to the first-round game at Springfield March 15 on a Tuesday. Quincy handed Pittsfield one of its two losses by 10 points after the Saukees had rang up 12 straight wins. Toby has done a real job in his first year, guiding the team to a 26-2 mark compared to the mediocre 9-16 record turned in for 1958-59.

John Romano was the pinch hitter of the year for the Chicago White Sox in 1959. He pinch hit 16 times and got three walks and eight hits for an average of .615.

NEW BERLIN REGIONAL VICTORS AT JACKSONVILLE

Coach Bill Hovey's New Berlin Pretzels captured the Jacksonville Regional title with a 47-43 win over Routt Friday night to annex their first regional crown in 19 years. New Berlin, beaten only once in 26 starts, has its 21-game winning streak in peril Wednesday night when it runs into Springfield in an 8:00 p.m. clash at the JHS Bowl. 60 Downstate Teams Resume Play Wednesday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—With the battle for survival getting tougher, 60 downstate teams will resume their drives for the Illinois high school basketball title in sectional tournaments Wednesday through Friday.

Some of the ranking contenders, including Springfield's defending champions, rate as solid favorites to pick up sectional prizes but many topflight teams face a rocky road.

The sectional winners chosen Friday night will advance with Chicago's city champion to the eight first round state finals around the state March. 15. The windup will be run off March 18-19 at the University of Illinois gym in Champaign.

One of the most hotly contested sectionals is expected at East St. Louis, where the No. 1 Pinckneyville Panthers are competing. The Pincks step out Thursday against Litchfield, listing an impressive 23-4 chart that includes a triumph over powerful Collinsville during the regular campaign.

The other game at East St. Louis matches the Collinsville regional against Dupo, one of four "Little Davids" still left from district tournaments a week ago.

The Springfield Senators, who performed in sparkling fashion during regional tests, loom as a clear cut choice at Jacksonville which has the host school, Forman and New Berlin in the field.

Holding a 25-4 mark, Springfield takes on New Berlin, which has won 24 of 25 games but hasn't encountered the brand of opposition offered by Springfield.

Ottawa's Pirates, ranked high all season in The Associated Press poll, collided with a strong La Salle-Peru team Wednesday night at La Salle.

It was La Salle-Peru that dealt Ottawa its only setback of the campaign—a one point decision on Feb. 2. Earlier, Ottawa beat La Salle by the same margin.

At Moline, the Galesburg Streaks still appear the team to stop even though they no longer have the services of their star, Bumpy Nixon. The darkhorse is little Erie, which gained prestige in battling through the rugged regional at Rock Island.

A wide open affair shapes up at Olney, where Mount Vernon continues its bid for the school's fifth state crown. McLeansboro, the team that smashed Shawneetown's unbeaten slate, is the Wednesday night opponent of Mount Vernon, whose Rams so far have won 19 and dropped 7.

The other tilt at Olney brings together 11th ranked Bridgeport and Centralia, the latter one of five schools shooting for repeat trips to the state finals.

Schlarman of Danville, Decatur and Proviso East, all members of The Associated Press top 15 list, occupy favorite roles in their various sectional meets.

However, Schlarman opens up at Champaign against the host team which handed the Danville club a loss in the first game of the season. Champaign's record is 16-9 while Schlarman is 25-2.

Decatur, playing at home, seeks its third victory of the season over Lincoln. In the bottom bracket, Clinton clashes with Blue Mound, beaten once in 28 starts.

At Aurora, Proviso's big hurdle comes Wednesday from Hinsdale, lower of only four games to date. The other tilt pairs West Chicago against Glenbard.

Manual is confronted at East Peoria Thursday by Canton, whose mediocre 17-10 record is not too indicative of the team's potential. Canton demonstrated its upset powers by toppling Galesburg during the season.

If Manual overcomes Canton, the next foe likely will be Pekin, whose Chinks are favored over Kewanee Wednesday. Another meeting between Pekin and Manual would be their third this year, each owning a victory over the other.

Kankakee will enjoy the home floor advantage for a challenge from Lockport Wednesday. The game figures to be a close one despite the fact Kankakee has defeated Lockport twice.

Elgin's towering entry, riding a hot streak with nine wins in the last ten contests, stands out in the Arlington Heights sectional. Elgin plays Evanston while Barrington opposes Arlington Heights.

Major threat at Sterling is East Rockford with a 21-4 mark. Two of the other three entries—Sterling and Freeport—have bowed to the Rockford cagers in regular competition.

Carbondale Attucks, assigned to Herrin's sectional, and Windsor, playing at Mattoon, are two district survivors with good prospects of remaining in the race.

At Macomb, the best won-lost performances belong to Carthage and Pittsfield but Quincy is not regarded lightly.

Illini Win Finale From Wildcats, 84-77

EVANSTON (AP) — Illinois rode a well-balanced attack to an 84-77 triumph over Northwestern in a Big Ten basketball finale Saturday. Five Illini scored in double figures, led by Govon Vaughn's 25 points.

With 3:15 remaining, Northwestern trimmed Illinois' lead to 73-70, but the Illini pulled away with accurate free throw shooting. Vaughn, the conference's second best free throw shooter, scored 7 of 7 charity shots in addition to his 9 baskets.

The victory gave Illini a closing 8-6 Big Ten record, the same as Northwestern's. Illinois had an over-all mark of 16-7 and Northwestern finished with 11-12.

Northwestern, paced by Willie Jones' 28 points, trailed at halftime, 36-30. The Wildcats never led in the game.

Among the Illini hitting double figures were Mannie Jackson with 15; Lee Frandsen with 14; Verne Altemeyer with 13; and Ed Perry with 10.

Frandsen gave the Illini a first half boost as he scored 7 successive points just before the intermission.

Illinois started hot in the second half, sinking five of their first six floor shots. The Illini shot a brisk 52 per cent from the field for the entire game, against Northwestern's 36.

Northwestern led in rebounds, 60 to 46, with Wildcat Chuck Brandt snaring 24. However, Altemeyer controlled the boards late in the game for Illinois.

Major Leagues Invest 85 Million Into Insurance

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Major League baseball teams have invested in more than 85 million dollars worth of disaster insurance, the Sporting News reported Saturday.

American League clubs, which fly les than those in the National, have a big majority of the insurance. American League clubs are insured for $51,625,000. National league teams for $34,145,000.

Of this total 28 million is in coverage on which players name their own beneficiaries. Each league has a 14-million dollar blanket policy with 35 members of a team's traveling party covered at rate of $50,000. Each major league club pays one-eighth of its league's premiums for these two policies, the baseball weekly said.

The American League has a 15-million-dollar blanket policy under which each club would be paid $75,000 for each of 25 players killed in a crash. In the National, each club is permitted to provide its own player insurance replacement plan.

Under the A.L. plan, each club would set aside 15 untouchables, then turn over a list of 10 available players from which a stricken club could select three men from each team at $75,000 apiece.

Fred Fleig, secretary-treasurer of the National League, said he was certain the owners could cope with a disaster situation in an emergency meeting.

Carey And Hunt Come To Terms

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Veteran infielder Andy Carey and rookie outfielder Ken Hunt agreed to contract terms with the New York Yankees Saturday, but Mickey Mantle still was not in the net.

Carey, out most of last season with a blood disease, signed for about $15,000, a cut of $3,000. He batted .257 in 41 games. Hunt hit .321 for Shreveport.

Mantle continued to stand his ground at his winter home in Dallas. He refuses to come here to discuss terms with George Weiss, the club's general manager.

Weiss has adopted a toughened policy toward the slugging outfielder. "We've been pampering this boy for nine years and I think it's time he acted like a man," said Weiss.

Mantle is battling a pay cut of $15,000 in his $75,000 yearly salary.

Tony Kubek is another holdout.

Cranks Break Windows In Page Home Friday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A large chunk of ice and a glass bottle were thrown through windows Friday night in the home of Ray Page, coach of Springfield High School's defending state champions.

The incident occurred around midnight, a few hours after Page's team won the Springfield regional tournament. Police were stationed around the house following the window smashing.

Page said he has received vulgar and threatening telephone calls during the past two months but regarded them as the work of cranks. In January, the top of his convertible car was slashed.

Badgers Upset Purdue, 89-80

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin's sophomore-loaded basketball team turned in a red hot shooting performance Saturday as it upset Purdue 89-80 in the final game of the season for both Big Ten teams.

The Badgers connected on 52 per cent of their shots for the best shooting record ever for a Wisconsin team in a conference game.

Purdue's Terry Dischinger hit 32 points, virtually sewing up conference scoring honors for the season. He led Ohio State's Jerry Lucas by 13 at game time.

The victory gave Wisconsin a 4-10 conference mark, its best finish in four years. Purdue wound up the season with six victories and eight losses.

Purdue beat Wisconsin by 30 points when the teams played earlier this year at Lafayette.

Cubs Will Try Taylor At 3rd

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Tony Taylor, who probably will be shifted to third base this season, checked into camp Saturday to give the Chicago Cubs a full squad of 37 players.

Taylor will start his third season with the Cubs. He is one of 10 infielders on Manager Charlie Grimm's regular roster and has been playing second base.

The Cubs worked out nearly five hours for their longest drill so far. They play their first training camp game Sunday—a seven inning match between two teams directed by coaches Elvin Tappe and Lou Klein.

The Cubs announced signing of Brian Eldredge, 19, a southpaw pitcher from Princeton, Mass., to a Lancaster, Pa., contract in the Eastern League.

GRINNEL TRIUMPHS

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — Favored Grinnel Saturday captured its third successive Midwest College Conference swimming championship in a meet which saw records fall in all but one event.

The Pioneers had three double winners and scored a total of 75 points to 52 for runnerup Knox. Beloit was third with 17 followed by Cornell with 14, Lawrence 5, St. Olaf 3 and Monmouth 1.

Double winners for Grinnel were Bill Herman, Stan Norman and Bill Murray.

Palmer Increases Baton Rouge Lead To Four Strokes

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., spread his lead to four strokes in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament Saturday with a searing 69 on a cold course.

Plamer took the lead Friday with his second 71 on the 6,600-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course. His latest round gave him a 211 total for 54 holes.

Doug Sanders, Miami, Fla., trailed in second with a 215 and his second straight 69. Sanders had a poor 77 the first round but made an amazing recovery.

Jay Hebert, Lafayette, La., shot his third straight par 72 for a 216 and a strong third place.

Doug Ford, Orlando, Fla., Allen Gelberger, Studio City, Calif., and Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla., were tied for fourth at 217.

Palmer had two under par 34 on the front side and one under 35 on the back. His 69 tied the previous low for 18 holes in the tournament.

The playing appeared better than in the two previous days although the temperature hovered between 31 degrees early and 42 late in the day.

Indiana Tames Spartans, 86-80

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Second-place Indiana, the only team to beat champion Ohio State, looked classy again Saturday night by knocking off defending champion Michigan State 86-80 in a Big Ten basketball game.

Win or lose, Indiana would have been runner-up to the Buckeyes. But the Hoosiers played it out to the end, sweating for every basket after leading 44-33 at the half. Indiana ended with an 11-3 conference record.

Michigan State, now with a 5-9 league record, dropped near the bottom of the standings.

It was the fifth Big Ten loss in a row for the Spartans, who faded after losing by only one basket to Ohio State a few weeks ago.

The stalwart of Michigan State was Horace Walker, with 29 points.

Iowa Thrashes Michigan, 68-53

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa kept Michigan's scoring ace John Tidwell in check and put another splotch on the dismal record of the last place Wolverines by thrashing them 68-53 in the Windup of the Big Ten basketball campaign Saturday night.

The Hawkeyes, who also have had a disappointing season, made a bid for a share of sixth place in the league's final standings, winning their sixth in 14 games. Michigan ended its worst basketball record in 40 years with a 1-13 mark.

Pete Schebler with 17 and Nolden with 14 points led the Iowa scoring.

The Wolverines were in charge through much of the first half but trailed 35-30 at the intermission. From then on the Hawkeyes never were in thouble and made it 62-48 with 3 minutes left.

Big 10 Athletes Are In Throes Of Tug-O-War

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big Ten athletics Saturday were in the throes of a dramatic tug-o-war.

It is between the restraints of faculty control and the instinct of athletic directors to make their programs bigger and more popular.

He is said to have made the motion that the conference ban all post-season sports competition except Olympic tryouts. This would involve all NCAA championship events.

The motion capped a chain reaction to a 5-5 vote by faculty representatives killing resumption of a Rose Bowl football contract and a 6-4 vote against participation in the Pasadena classic on an individual basis.

A majority of faculty representatives are believed to be in favor of the Rose Bowl. But they are under instruction how to vote from the faculty bodies of their respective schools.

It is with these governing groups at high level — whether they be committees in which faculty men are in the majority, or councils or senates—that the issue is aimed.

Mackey's motion, it was reported, got a 9-1 favorable vote among th athletic directors. A motion was then made for reconsideration.

After a short cooling off period, the vote was 7-3 to put it before the joint 20-man group of faculty representatives and athletic directors.

A proposal then was made by startled faculty men to table it. This reportedly was defeated 18-2. Another motion was made to postpone it. This lost out 16-4.

Finally, the faculty representatives voted in favor of the post-season ban by a majority, probably 6-4.

The matter is one of basic policy and must be returned to each school's governing athletic body for decision. Another round of instructional votes will be made and formal balloting by faculty representatives will be done at the May 18-21 meetings in East Lansing, Mich.

The athletic directors are gambling that the governing groups will take a look at the whole athletic picture in a new light, or at least with more objectivity, and vote against the post-season ban.

If they don't the Big Ten's reign as a major athletic power could be threatened.

Faculty groups are said to be just simply against athletics, or any inroads they may have in the educational set-up.

But at the same time, it was pointed out, they fail to realize that one sure rallying point for the majority of the public is symbolized by athletics—that interest induced by athletics is a big factor in carrying the financial burden of the educational program.

Although the Rose Bowl contract, worth about $300,000 a year, was killed, there still is hope that participation on an individual school basis can continue. This, too, is up for institutional vote after being temporarily turned down 6 - 4 when Indiana switched its stand in a faculty representative session.

Youth, 17, Admits Killing Two Men, And Woman

JUPITER, Fla. (AP) — A posse tracked down Saturday a 17-year-old boy who told officers he killed two Miami gas station attendants and kidnaped and murdered a woman.

Chief Investigator H. L. Conyers of the Palm Beach County sheriff's office identified the youth as Dennis Whitney, 17, of North Hollywood, Calif.

"He admitted to me that he is the man who killed two Dade County gas station attendants," Conyers said.

The youth was trailed by footprints over desolate, palmetto-from the spot where the body of Virginia B. Selby, 60, of Hialeah was found early Saturday, 30 miles north of her home.

The woman was reported missing after she failed to meet her husband in downtown Miday night. Conyers said the youth admitted crawling into Mrs. Selby's car in a parking lot as she awaited her husband.

"He said he told her to get out, that he wanted the car, but she wouldn't get out," Conyers said.

"He said he tried to let her out a couple of times on the way up here, but she refused even when he pointed a gun at her."

Conyers said the youth told him Mrs. Selby hit him with a hammer when he ordered her out of the car near Jupiter, and he shot and beat her to death. He tried to drive on, but couldn't get the car started, Conyers added.

Kenneth G. Mezzarano, 21, died Wednesday after being shot during a filling station holdup in Miami Sunday night, and Arthur L. Keeler, 53, was fatally shot Monday. Total take in the three holdups in Miami was estimated at $500.

Bally Ache And Warfare Top List For May 7 Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bally Ache, winner of the Flamingo Stakes, and Warfare, the 2-year-old champion last year, head the list of 142 nominees for the 86th running of the Kentucky Derby on May 7.

Warfare, son of 1954 derby winner Determine, earned $394,610 for Bellehurst Stable last year, but currently is out of action after finishing second in a 6-furlong race at Santa Anita early in January.

NBA Reinstates Archie Moore

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. Saturday reinstated Archie Moore as light heavyweight boxing champion providing he and Eirch Schoeppner agree to meet Harold Johnson after their summer title fight.

The NBA withdrew recognition of Moore as champion Feb. 15 for failure to sign to meet Johnson of Philadelphia, rated as the No. 1 contender by the association.

Anthony Maceroni, NBA president, said Moore and Schoeppner would be required to post a $5,000 forfeit to meet Johnson providing the Philadelphian still is the leading contender at the time.

Moore and the German are expected to clash for the 175-pound title late in July or August at a still undetermined site.

Michigan Grabs 19th Big 10 Indoor Title

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Michigan's balanced Wolverines, scoring in 13 of 15 events and winning four, grabbed their 19th Big Ten indoor track-field championship Saturday by an 18-point margin over Illinois.

The Illini won six events, including the mile relay in record time, but couldn't match the over-all speed of the defending champions.

Michigan piled up 63 1-3 points, fourth largest total compiled in the meet's half century. Illinois had 45 1-3, Michigan State 31 9-10, Minnesota 23 8-15, Indiana 21 1-5, Iowa 20, Northwestern 10 7-10, Ohio State 10, Purdue 5 and Wisconsin was blanked.

Tom Robinson, Michigan's international law student from the Bahamas, was the only double winner. The fleet - footed import tied the Big Ten record of :06.1 in the 60-yard dash, and was only a tenth off the record as he took the 300-yard dash in :30.4 seconds. He repeated his 1959 wins in each.

Ken Brown and George Kerr of Illinois, the latter from Jamaica, came up with two of the day's top feats. Brown let Michigan State's Bob Lake set the pace into the last lap of the two-mile, then came from 18 yards back with a great burst to win by a step in 9:04.9, far under the record of 9:07.2 set by Michigan's Don McEwen in 1950.

In the mile relay, with eight points going to the winner, Michigan's Tony Seth from British Guiana wheeled into the last lap with a six-yard lead — but Kerr came up with a :46.5 anchor to nip him at the tape as both teams broke the old record.

Illinois had a 3:16.3 clocking for the relay, with Michigan a tenth of a second back, to erase the old mark of 3:16.8 set by Ohio State a year ago.

Another Illinois hero was Jim Bowers, who was hospitalized last night with influenza but climbed out of bed to win the mile by 10 yards in 4:09.9.

Although Michigan won four events, the Wolverines picked up more points in three events they didn't win. They finished one-two in both the shot put and the 880-yard run for seven points in each, nd second in the mile relay for six. First place, except in the relay, counted five.

Dave Mills, Purdue's great quarter - miler who suffered a sprained ankle in warming up, withdrew from his favorite event after qualifying handily—and John Brown of Iowa led all the way to take the event in :48.6.

New AFL Group Ends Meeting

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The new American Football League wound up a three-day meeting Saturday by throwing another block against possible expansion by the established National Football League into Texas.

The AFL voted to boost the fine for switching an American franchise to the National League from $500,000 to $1,400,000.

"That would jolt most people," said Commissioner Joe Foss.

The motion to increase the transfer liability was made by Lamar Hunt, president of the Dallas Texans, and was seconded by K. S. Adams Jr., president of the Houston Oilers.

Most of Saturday's session was spent in preliminary discussions over scheduling.

Harry Wismer, president of the New York Titans, said, "We wish to avoid scheduling conflicts with the NFL as much as we can."

Foss said the complete schedule can be made without having another league meeting.

Roberts Stars In Buckeye Win

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Joe Roberts' scoring in the second half revived Ohio State's faltering Big Ten champions and brought them a 75-66 basketball victory over Minnesota Saturday night.

Firing jump shots, hooks and driving up layups, the husky 6-foot-5 Buckeye senior hit 11 of his team's 13 points over a decisive six-minute stretch early in the second half when the game hung in the balance.

It was Ohio State's 13th conference victory against a lone defeat — to Indiana — and marked the Buckeyes' final tuneup for the NCAA playoffs.

Minnesota ended the season 8-6 and landed in a tie with Illinois and Northwestern for third place.

Illinois Tops In Gymnastics 11th Straight Year

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Illinois, with Ray Hadley scoring half its points, survived a tight battle with Minnesota and Michigan State Saturday for its 11th straight Big Ten gymnastics title.

The Illini totaled 115 points to Minnesota's 105.5 and Michigan State's 104. The rest of the field was strung out far behind.

Hadley, a muscular sophomore, scored 52 points on firsts in the free exercise and all-around, a third in the high bar, fourth in the side horse, third in the parallel bar and fourth in the still rings.

His individual effort was approached by Minnesota's Duane Hoecherl, who won the parallel bars competition and scored heavily in four other events for 40.5.

Joining Hadley as a double winner was Iowa's Larry Snyder, who took the trampoline and the tumbling.

The other individual winner was Pat Bird of Illinois in the still rings.

Santa Anita Derby Classic Won By Tompion

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Tompion, C. V. Whitney's stylish Kentucky colt, romped in to score an easy victory in the $130,400 Santa Anita Derby Saturday as the odds-on favorite, Flow Line, finished dead last.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker put Tompion into the lead after a furious battle for the pace with Flow Line and flashed across the finish line with four lengths of daylight behind him.

The time for the mile and one-eighth feature was 1.47 4-5, a record for the Santa Anita Derby.

Flow Line, unbeaten in four previous starts, went to bat as the odds-on betting favorite with a roaring crowd of 55,000. But someone forgot to pull the shutoff valve on the colt and he ran out of gas.

Tompion, the hopeful stakes winner at Saratoga last summer, and now a leading nominee for the Kentucky Derby, paid $6.60, $4.20 and $3.60 as the second choice with the public.

The old derby record of 1.48 4-5 was established in 1950 by Your Host and equalled in 1954 by Determine.

The victory was worth a net $83,300 to the wealthy socialite owner of Tompion, who proved to be a running son of Tom Fool, his sire.

Flow Line, known as a strong willed colt, by Khaled, was docility itself in the saddling paddock.

But he broke from the gate like a burst of wind and swept into a quick lead as the field of nine raced past the grandstand the first time.

It was apparent that jockey Bill Boland was trying to keep a restraining rein on Flow Line, but it was also evident as the race progressed that veteran Boland was waging a losing battle to hold the colt in check.

Flow Line dropped back and back—and wound up 25 lengths behind the winner. A sum of $260,269, bet on Flow Line's nose, went into the tank.

Wrestling Honors Also To Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan captured four individual titles and amassed 65 points to win the Big Ten wrestling championship here Saturday.

The Wolverines, who placed all eight entries in the quarterfinals Friday, added a third and two fourth-place finishes to take its 10th conference crown.

Iowa, led by Gordon Trapp who won the 177-pound title, added one second-place finish, three thirds and a fourth to wind up in second with 50 points.

The other teams, with their point totals:

Michigan State, 37; Northwestern 28; defending champion Minnesota 27; Indiana 24; Purdue 17; Ohio State 16; Illinois 3, and Wisconsin none.

Bids For High Line To Springfield Will Be Opened Monday

Jacksonville's high line to Springfield, linking the electrical generating plants of the two cities, will come another step closer when bids are opened at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon for work and materials on the big project. The bid-opening will take place in the council chamber at the city hall.

Contractors, material dealers, engineers, attorneys and city officials will be present when the bids on several sections of the project are opened and inspected.

Burns & McDonnell, consulting engineers of Kansas City, Mo., will have representatives at the bid-opening. Orville N. Foreman, special counsel for the high line; Mayor Robert A. DuBois, and several members of the city council will be present.

Esitmated to cost in the neighborhood of $500,000, the high line will extend a distance of 32 miles from the Jacksonville plant on East Morton avenue to the Jerome sub-station, west of Springfield.

Most of the right-of-way has already been secured, only a few tracts not yet having been signed up.

Jacksonville and Springfield have entered into a contract, with this city buying auxiliary power from Springfield to distribute over its lines. Jacksonville also has a power agreement with the Winchester REA.

City officials said several days probably will be required for the engineers to evaluate the bids of the various firms which will submit proposals on the high line.

Fire In Downtown Decatur Destroys Five Buildings

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Fire raged through a string of two-story buildings in downtown Decatur early Friday, destroying five and damaging two others.

There were no casualties. Two women living in a second floor apartment of one of the damaged buildings were rescued by firemen.

There was no official estimate of damages but one fire department official said it might run to a half-million or more.

The blaze raged out of control for nearly three hours before firemen managed to control it.

A blast blew out windows of the Lincoln Square Tavern, giving first warning of the fire. In addition to the building housing the tavern, others destroyed were Rambo's Pharmacy, Walley and Sons Jewelry Shop, the Lincoln Theatre and the Lincoln Square Cafe.

Nikita Returns From Trip With Eye On Summit

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev returned Saturday from his South Asian tour with a calm report on his travels and an eye on the summit talks ahead. No one, he said, should make statements at this time which might trouble the atmosphere.

Looking tanned and fit, Khrushchev addressed a meeting of Moscovites at Lenin Stadium soon after a Soviet airliner landed him from Kabul, his last stop on a three-week, 15,500-mile tour of India, Burma, Indonesia and Afghanistan.

To a house packed as usual with top elements of the Soviet party and government, the Premier appealed for mutual calm before his meeting with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris March 15 and the East-West summit conference opening in the French capital May 16.

"The Soviet Union goes to these talks full of readiness to look with other states for ways to ease international tension and peaceful regulation of arguable questions," he said.

"We from our side have done and are doing everything necessary to create a favorable atmosphere for the forthcoming talks. We intend to achieve success in the future meetings. If our Western partners go to the talks with similar intentions one can hope for the success of the meeting of the heads of government.

"The thing now is that not a single state should complicate the atmosphere with any action. Our proposals are known to the whole world. If the Western powers are sincere in their desire for peace and will not create new difficulties then they will make their contribution to the cause of achieving results."

In reporting on his tour, Khrushchev persisted in his attacks on what he calls "imperialist colonialism." He denounced colonialism at every turn and blamed it for most of the ills of the nations he visited. That was his theme throughout the trip and the theme of the Russian press.

Rumor Margaret's Wedding Date Set For Day In May

LONDON (AP)—Whispers flew round the society grapevine Saturday that Princess Margaret's wedding has been set for one day in May.

Nobody was giving the exact date. But titled tattlers put it toward the end of apple blossom time, before the London society season has swung into its elegant stride.

Guessing when Margaret will march up the aisle has been Britain's most popular parlor game since she announced her betrothal to Antony Armstrong-Jones a week ago.

And as plans for the nuptials went ahead behind palace walls, a few indications inevitably drifted out to those aristocratic echelons living on the fringe of the royal confines.

Canvassing for bridesmaids, for one thing, provided a pointer to the big day. A cousin of Margaret's, Mrs. Denys Rhodes, disclosed that her 8-year-old daughter, Annabel, had been picked.

"I know Princess Margaret would like to be married at the end of May," she said.

Mrs. Rhodes was herself a bridesmaid at Queen Elizabeth's wedding in 1947.

Fire Destroys Six-Room Home Near Point Pleasant

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — The six room farm home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Six and their six children was completely destroyed by fire late Friday morning. The farm home, located about 5½ miles northeast of Winchester, in the Point Pleasant neighborhood, was owned by Robert Dahman and was partially covered by insurance. The contents of the house were not insured.

The fire started about 10:30 a.m. and was thought to be caused by a faulty flue. Mr. Dahman, the owner of the house, happened to be at the farm when the fire was discovered and assisted the family in getting out the few pieces of furniture that were saved. They were unable to save any clothing except the wearing apparel they had on. The Winchester Fire Department was called twice but could not respond to the call because the home had not been placed under the City Fire Protection Plan. This plan is a contract that must be signed at the City Hall in Winchester.

By noon the home was completely destroyed. The family is now residing, temporarily, at the home of Mr. Six's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Six of Bluffs. The children in the family include three boys, ages 13, 15 and 9 months, and three girls, ages 16, 12 and 8.

The neighbors in the Point Pleasant Community are planning a miscellaneous shower for the family. This is to be held in the American Legion Hall in Winchester at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, March 13. Anyone wishing to attend and assist this family may do so. Any items of clothing or furniture will be appreciated.

Each family attending is asked to bring sandwiches or cookies, their own table service and hot chocolate for the children, if desired. The coffee will be furnished by the neighbors in charge of the affair including Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bown, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dahman, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Andell and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Renner.

$100,000 FIRE HITS PLANT IN QUINCY

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Flames whipped through the Black White Limestone Co. south of Quincy Friday causing an estimated $100,000 worth of damage to the plant.

A dozen off-duty Quincy firemen helped the Tri-Township Fire Department fight the rural blaze in below zero weather. The plant is about two miles outside the Quincy city limits.

Firemen, who fought the blaze for more than eight hours, were hampered by lack of water until they broke through an ice-covered pond in the plant grounds.

Black said the company, which employs 54 workers, will be out of business for about three weeks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of bouquet taffeta fashioned on classic princess lines with long tapered sleeves and a yoke of Alencon lace embroidered in seed pearls and sequins forming a sweetheart neckline.

The lace motif was repeated at the hips, and a large bustle bow trimmed the full chapel sweep skirt. A crown of seed pearls held the fingertip veil of silk illusion.

Reception At Hotel

The triple tiered wedding cake, frosted white, was trimmed in pink and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The dainty candles used in holders at the serving table, were made by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Frank Bergschneider of Tucson, Arizona.

Guests were served wedding cake, with coffee or fruit punch, pink and white mints and salted nutmeats. Serving cake were Mrs. Robert Patterson and Mrs. John Reeves, the latter had baked and decorated the wedding cake. When the couple left for a honeymoon in California, the bride was wearing an avocado and beige plaid costume with beige accessories. The orchid from her wedding flowers completed her going away outfit.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Bergschneider will make their home one and one-half miles south of Alexander.

The bride graduated from Jacksonville High School with the class of 1959 and formerly was employed at Jacksonville State Hospital. Mr. Bergschneider graduated from Routt High School in 1961 and is engaged in farming.

Editorial Comment

Bigger Than Chicago—

The whole nation should be watching, now that Orlando W. Wilson of the University of California's criminology department has taken over as head of the Chicago police department.

For there will be much more at stake than just the question whether he can clean up a scandal-ridden police force in our second-largest city.

Wilson will really be conducting an experiment, with the object to see if the police force of a large American metropolis can be made adequate to the rising challenge of our growing criminal element.

Up to now, in virtually all the biggest U.S. cities, police forces have not proved entirely equal to the challenge. Spiraling crime rates have had them running ragged.

A good example is the recent two-month flurry of hit-and-run crimes in New York. There have been at least 14 since Christmas. They have reached the point where some animal-like offenders pile their victims into their cars, pretending to take them to the hospital, and then dump them off later in less crowded spots.

The New York authorities have solved but a few of these. Unsolved crimes of many kinds bulk heavily on police blotters in many of the big cities.

Some of the difficulty can be laid to insufficient numbers of policemen. Inadequate police pay is another serious factor. But it is also possible that modern big city police forces need some big doses of wholly fresh thinking.

There is where the lean Professor Wilson, on the spot now in Chicago, comes in. If anyone in this country can bring a totally new outlook to the problems of the police, it would seem to be he. Both his practical and his academic background are superior qualifications for this task.

We are near a point of peril. There is serious doubt whether law and order truly prevails in all parts of our great cities. If Wilson succeeds first in reconstituting the Chicago police and then in giving it a new and firmer grip on the city, his effort may serve as both a welcome model and a source of hope to other cities nationwide.

A fine 90-year-old Christian who had served both as a county purchasing agent and as a member of the New York State legislature, once told me of an interesting experience he had had while in the purchasing office.

To avoid the pitfall of payola—long before this word was coined—he had made a firm resolution not to accept gifts of any kind from his constituents. This was one of the decisions that resulted in his becoming known as the most honest purchasing agent in the history of the county.

Two days before Thanksgiving one of his friends came in with a big package wrapped in heavy paper and said:

"Frank, I have a nice turkey here. I would like to give it to you and to your wife for your Thanksgiving dinner."

"Well, Bill," said Frank, "I appreciate the spirit in which you are doing this. But you know my rule. I have made it a practice not to accept gifts of any kind as long as I am a political office holder. Much as I would enjoy this bird, you had better give it to somebody else."

SO FRANK UNWRAPPED IT. Telling about it later, he said, "When I got that gobbler unwrapped it looked so juicy and tempting, that I nearly yielded. But I wrapped it up again and said, 'Thank you again, Bill, but you had better take it home and give it to one of your neighbors.'"

Looking at me with a twinkle in his eye as he told this, he said: "Pastor, if you should ever mention this incident, especially in speaking to young people, tell them for me 'If you ever have a temptation put into your hands, DON'T UNWRAP IT!'"

HOW MUCH MORAL TRAGEDY would be avoided in hundreds of human situations if people would only remember not to unwrap their temptations. This is true of the temptations of alcohol, money, sex, or social or political ambitions.

We play around with temptation too much. We like to look at it, handle it, and experience something of its tantalizing suggestions. Before we know it we are caught, and compromise our finest ideals. This is what the writer of the Book of James in the New Testament had in mind when he said, (1:13-15):

"Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man: But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death."

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Problems of Faith

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

When Jesuit college presidents meeting at Boston College spoke of "spiritual bewilderment" I assumed they were referring to the spiritually inclined but nonetheless bewildered.

I have written of the vast number of people who are not enough interested in moral or spiritual matters to be bewildered or even to care. This is a great human tragedy.

But there can be no question that among those who do care there is undoubtedly much "bewilderment." The causes, as I see it, go much deeper than the question of the adjustment of faith, of moral and spiritual outlook in the present dominant interest in material science.

Much of the bewilderment is related to science, but in a more remote way, going back into the 19th century. Some of it is reflected in my own correspondence concerning the origin of man and the question of evolution, which for most thoughtful people ought to have been settled by now.

An outstanding fact is the enormous progress that has come about within the range of one lifetime. The first Bible that I knew and read had in its margin 4004 B.C. as the date of creation and the origin of man.

It is surprising how much that date in the Bible record still besets and troubles so many devoutly religious people who feel that they must "believe the Bible," regardless of the evidence of the rocks, the trees and other scientific evidence, and who are considerably bewildered or blindly determined to keep their faith.

Two things ought to be emphasized. Fact and truth are as much a part of God's world and God's revelation as anything in the written word. A first question: What is fact and what is true? Secondly, the Genesis account is in an Eastern book, coming out of a nonscientific age and never intended to be a scientific account.

I was fortunate in studying the early chapters of Genesis under a devout scholar, the late Chancellor Nathaniel Burwash of Victoria College in Toronto. To him it was a great "poem of creation."

Many fail to understand the poetry of the Bible, which has enough plain fact and truth for life to suggest that its readers avoid the pitfalls of misreading and misinterpretation.

There is no doubt that for many the problems of faith in a century of change go much deeper than questioning the evidence of the rocks and similar matters. Chiefly, it is in finding a realistic faith in God in an expanding universe.

Where is the place of God, the Loving Father, in this vast world? We may be lost in wonderment, but is there a place for love and praise?

This, I think, is the deep question underlying much bewilderment. I hope to write a little more about how, in this bewildering world, we can have a faith in God, perhaps a little different, but as vital as the faith we held when the margin of our Bibles said B.C. 4004. It might be remembered that margins were never a part of inspiration.

In Hollywood

The Carney special, called "The Best of Anything," was a hit-and-miss affair, but the hits were hilarious enough to excuse the misses. Best skit was the opening public service award for congressional investigators. Carney was capital as the camera-hogging senator, and Reddy McDowall was funny and pointed as the boyish counsel who was willing "to spend my own family inheritance" to track down corruption.

Another bullseye was the treatment of the talent contest of a beauty pageant. There could be few sights more devastating than Betty Garrett playing the violin badly while singing "I Could Have Danced All Night" and roller-skating.

Also chalked up as winners were McDowall's horrendous impression of a Fabin-like record star and a peace prize banquet that ended in a riot.

The takeoff of the Arthur Murray dance party might have been funny to these familiar with the show; happily, I am not. Likewise, viewers who haven't seen "Room at the Top" might have missed the point of a satire on it. Carney's impression of Leonard Brenstein didn't come off.

Not a bad average in these gray days for satire. There are few who can explore the subtleties of humor as well as Carney. But he must have material. He is a comedic actor, not a natural comic like Jackie Gleason or Red Skelton. They can rise above poor material; Carney cannot.

What's-in-a-Name Nearly 'Finnished' Ambassador; Disarmament Chief's in No Hurry to Go Formal

BY JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — U.S Ambassador to El Salvador Thorsten V. Kalijarvi and Walter Muller, ambassador from Chile, were sitting opposite each other at an Inter-American Bank luncheon. To make conversation Muller remarked, "You must be Finnish."

Kalijarvi immediately paled and looked aghast. "What do you mean?" he demanded.

"I was only interested in your name," Muller replied. "I asked if you were Finnish."

"Oh, FINNISH," Kalijarvi said with a sigh of relief. "I thought you meant that I had been fired."

FREDERICK M. EATON, New York corporation lawyer and chairman of the U.S. delegation to the 10-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, checked into the Metropolitan Club here when he came to town to take over his new duties. Shortly after arriving, a page went through the club lounge, calling:

"Ambassador Eaton. Call for Ambassador Eaton."

After several calls, Eaton realized he was being paged. He jumped from his chair and said to the page, "Wait a minute. Don't start calling me 'Ambassador' till I get to Geneva. And smile."

THE BAND LEADER at a Virginia State Society dance dedicated a popular ditty to Alaska's Senators E. L. (Bob) Bartlett and Ernest Gruening, and to Rep. Ralph Rivers. The maestro suggested that they adopt it as the state song. The number was "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm."

FIRST THING Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson did on arriving in Chicago to speak to the local dental association was to tour some near-by farms. Rushing into the barbershop, the dentist was dismayed to learn that the bootblack had gone home for the day. So he spent the next 20 minutes doing the job himself.

Now Benson has the reputation of being the only man in Washington who goes to a dentist for foot trouble.

REP. RANDALL HARMON (D-Ind.) came up with a unique gimmick for calling attention to his bill to construct a heliport atop the new House office building. He announced that he would fly low over the building in a helicopter.

"This is the American Cancer Society. Can you supply us with a model who will jump out of a giant cake wearing a bathing suit? It's an idea we have for our 20th birthday party."

Before Mary could answer, the call was disconnected. Doubting that the Cancer Society would make such a request, she called the organization to find out for sure.

"Did you just request a model for your 20th anniversary party to jump out of a cake?" she asked.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Each election year has its own unpredictable events. And this one is no exception.

There never seemed much doubt in 1956 that President Eisenhower would beat Adlai Stevenson again. But the world got complicated before election day that year.

There was the Hungarian revolt against Communism, its oppression by the Soviet Union, and the American decision not to intervene.

And there was the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt when the Soviet Union threatened to get into it and this country possibly averted world war by intervening to the extent of telling the British, French and Israelis to quit and get out.

In the end none of these events changed anything in the election returns. Eisenhower swamped Stevenson again.

But there was a time when no one could confidently say he knew what might happen.

This year Vice President Richard M. Nixon is staying pretty quiet, riding the crest of the Eisenhower wave. The President still remains enormously popular and Nixon, by trailing along, can hope the Eisenhower popularity will rub off on him.

But this year, quiet so far, is going to be a busy one and the picture could change.

For example, if the summit conference, where Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev are the principals, is a success, it ought to help the Republicans and Nixon, the only Republican presidential candidate in sight, in next November's elections.

If the summit conference blows up, if relations between America and the Soviet Union turn sour and fierce, tension and uneasiness will build up in this country. Who benefits from that—Democrats or Republicans—is hard to guess.

Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) are doing the campaigning, the hard running, most of the speechmaking. Possibly Humphrey will get knocked off early. But that wouldn't give Kennedy title to the Democratic presidential nomination.

No matter how he shows up in primaries there is still the convention where he could get sidetracked. Still, if he does, no one now can say confidently who'll get the nomination away from him.

Even the fight going on in the Senate now over civil rights—with the Southerners filibustering against any civil rights legislation—may be in the end a heavy factor in picking a Democratic presidential candidate.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, one of the Democrats' presidential hopefuls, is a shrewd operator. And it's possible he will be able to maneuver through a civil rights bill which won't quite satisfy either the Southerners or the Northern Liberals but still won't make any of them really mad at him.

But Johnson seems to need Southern support if he hopes to come out the winner at the Democratic convention. It could happen that the civil rights fight will get out of control and leave him with a backlog of bitter Southern antagonism.

Hiring of Older Workers Pressing Social Problem

BY MARIE DAERR

More than one-fifth of 4,000 high-seniority workers laid off when Packard Motor Co. closed its doors in Detroit in June 1956 never found another job.

Two years after the plant closed, only 44 per cent had found other jobs and were still working.

This sad commentary on employers' attitudes toward older workers is in a report published by the Senate's subcommittee on unemployment insurance.

Sponsored by the University of Michigan and Wayne State University Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations, the report was made by Harold L. Sheppard, Louis A. Ferman and Seymour Faber.

It was based on talks with 500 Packard workers laid off when the plant closed. Two-thirds of these people had over 23 years' seniority at Packard. Nearly all were 40 or older.

In 1958, a total of 21 per cent of the people under 45 had been jobless a year or longer.

Of the 45-to-54 age group, 23 per cent were in this jobless category. The percentage for 55-to-64 was 38. But the 65-and-over percentage was 87.

In general, the skilled workers had an easier time finding a job, than did the unskilled and the semi-skilled. But the percentage of the skilled still working in 1958 wasn't much higher than the percentage of those with less training.

The authors point out that during the 1958 recession there were more unskilled jobs available, than skilled ones. Employers might prefer a skilled worker for a less skilled job.

The interviewers asked the ex-Packard workers whether they thought any special groups ought to do something about factory shut downs. Half mentioned the government. About one-fourth mentioned unions. About one-eighth said management should help.

Most popular single remedy for the situation was defense contracts. But many ex-Packard workers were for financing the cost of moving to a new job and for outright government operation of the plant.

Most (65 per cent) felt the Democratic party could do more for them than the Republicans. But 20 per cent said one party was no better than the other.

"Psychologically, long unemployment led to increased feelings of personal futility," the authors said.

What are the authors' remedies for the problem?

- Providing extended compensation for older workers with prolonged unemployment.
- Encouraging special retraining and counseling for old workers.
- Broadening seniority provisions to provide more chances for transfers by workers affected by relocation of factories and offices.
- Providing moving expenses or developing a termination pay system.
- Outlawing employment discrimination based on age.

Sturdy Seafood Chowders Appease Robust Appetites

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

A substantial seafood chowder will simplify preparing your meatless dinner. It can be made easily of frozen shrimp, fish fillets, frozen carrots and peas and canned broiled mushrooms.

If you have no tureen or only a very formal one, try serving it in your largest mixing bowl or an old-fashioned crock. For added color and flavor add coarsely shredded carrots, perhaps also diced green pepper or beefsteak tomato, or julienne unpeeled cucumber. Pass old-fashioned oyster crackers or thick soda crackers. A big bowl of cole slaw goes well with this meal.

For dessert, a large pan of gingerbread or spice cake made from a mix and topped with whipped cream or one of the whipped toppings.

Seafood Chowder
(Makes 8 servings)

Three tablespoons butter, 1/3 cup diced onion, 1/3 cup diced green pepper, 1 quart chicken broth, 1 can (6 ounces) sliced broiled mushrooms, 2 packages (10 ounce each), quick-frozen shelled raw shrimp, 1 package (10-ounce) quick-frozen haddock fillet, 1 package (10-ounce) quick-frozen carrots and peas, 1/16 teaspoon powdered thyme, 1 cup light cream, 2 tablespoons flour, salt to taste.

Melt butter in 2-quart saucepan over moderate heat. Add onion and green pepper and cook 5 minutes. Add chicken broth, mushrooms including broth, shrimp cut in thirds, fish fillets cut in bite-sized pieces, vegetables and thyme. Cook until fish is done and vegetables are just tender crisp. Blend together and stir in cream and flour and cook until soup thickens. Add salt to taste.

Shrimp Sauce: Combine applesauce, horseradish, catsup, capers, minced onion and Worcestershire sauce. Chill. Serve in lettuce cup surrounded with cold shrimp.

Yellow Sauce: Make a sauce of butter, flour, seasonings and apple juice. Add beaten egg yolks, lemon rind and juice. Serve on broiled fish, etc.

Crabmeat Gumbo: Make gumbo of canned applesauce, canned tomato, diced celery, canned okra, crabmeat, parsley, minced onion, garlic and seasonings. Cook all together until rather thick. Serve with seasoned croutons. Serve in soup plates as main course at luncheon.

Big Event Of 1885 Was Well Heralded, But It Topped Advance Billing

By Cecil Tendick

Ye old time newspaper editor seldom bothered with trivial things, such as news. His meat was politics and economics, so he used most of his space to scald his political opponents and to boom the town in hopes of jacking up the demand for town lots.

He didn't have time for crime or the arts. He handled death in one of three ways. Usually he ignored it. If the departee was a prominent man in the opposition party he usually gave the event three to five lines, with a hint that perhaps, this time, justice was done and the deceased was headed for his proper home. If a prominent man in his party died that called for at least a "stick" or two of type, and if the deceased had money or had ever been elected town constable or better ye ed gave it the full treatment, along with printing the hour long funeral oration in full.

But he certainly had no time to monkey around with such a trivial thing as birth.

About 80 years ago, though, birth announcements began to appear in print. Maybe one out of two hundred were recorded.

'That Fine Baby Boy'

By 1885 the ratio was about one out of a hundred. The announcements usually were couched in fancy language and some of them showed considerable imagination. For example, a blacksmith might shoe a horse backwards "all on account of that fine baby boy that arrived at his house last night." Or maybe the painter whitewashed a horse instead of a house for the same reason. Or another father suddenly lost interest in a passing of Haley's comet. The authors strained themselves trying to come up with something fitting, timely and different.

These announcements were for "voters." Maybe once a year some big wheel had a baby daughter who had to be recognized. The mother was never mentioned. She couldn't vote, so why bother with her?

As said before, by 1885 the birth of about one out of a hundred baby boys was recorded in the paper. So, when the Jacksonville Journal printed an item about the same boy THREE TIMES it was an interesting switch in procedure.

'In the Course of . . .'

Charley Eames, the Journal proprietor, first noted the happening.

He wrote, "When in the course of human events 21 years shall have rolled around there will probably be a voter out on Joy Prairie who will call Mr. John B. Joy father. The embryo statesman at present weighs but nine pounds, but give him time and he will tip the beam at 175."

Eames must have been terribly busy that day, because usually he flowered them up better than that.

Three days later T. E. Fox, the Chapin correspondent, wrote: "Jno. B. Joy of Joy Prairie is not noted as a solo singer as much as he is for temperance and Sunday school work, but they say he can sing 'Baby Mine' in good style, all on account of that fine boy."

The Third Account

And two days later Dr. J. M. Huckstep, the Lynnville correspondent, had to get in his "two-bits' worth." The Lynnville dentist was a character deluxe back in the days when characters were a dime a dozen. He was a zealous Republican who freely predicted the end of the nation when Grover Cleveland was elected to the White House, the first Democratic president in 24 years.

The Joy infant was born on March 5, 1885, the very day Cleveland was inaugurated. But facts never disturbed the colorful "oral mechanic" and he gleefully wrote:

"John B. Joy the other day seemed delighted to think that his wonderful baby was not born after 12 o'clock March 4th, for then it would have been a Grover baby, but as it arrived on the evening express it is relieved of that embarrassment. So luck to the boy, Br. Joy."

In Many Fields

As Eames predicted, he still lives in Joy Prairie. In fact he lives in the same house he was born in. Perhaps he didn't turn out to be a statesman in Eames' sense of the word, but in his quiet way Joy has worked steadily through the years in most of the many varied fields of modern agriculture and it is doubtful if any man in Illinois has accomplished more. His early co-workers in the job of bringing help to everyone through better farming, through farm cooperatives, through mutual insurance, soil conservation and forestry, are nearly all gone now. But they were the builders of what younger men calmly accept without wondering who did it for them.

The boy of 1885 has labored on many community, county, regional and state boards and has been effective on all of them. He served on some boards 20 years, on some 30 years, and is still active on one after 54 years.

So it is safe to say the boy turned out to be a statesman, in the genuine sense of the word.

Eames also hit it right on the weight estimate. At his huskiest, H. P. tipped the scales at 200 and now weighs 150.

College-Trained Farmer

Correspondent Fox's observations also rolled around O.K., as the boy stayed clear of alcohol and tobacco and was an active worker in the days of Joy Prairie Congregational church. He was one of the first college-trained farmers in these parts and has always been a strong booster for education.

Doc Huckstep, though, would have been disappointed in the boy, for he never held any of the pettishness or self-praise that accompanies politics. In fact, the boy developed such a self-effacing modesty that the only way you can praise him is to be sneaky about it, as now.

Which is the prime reason this article isn't illustrated. If a photograph had been requested the boy somehow would have fathomed what was going on and, again somehow, he would have stymied this piece in some gracious but 100% effective way.

Mayor Proclaims 4-H Week

Mayor Robert A. DuBois has proclaimed the week of March 5-12 "4-H Club Week in Jacksonville." He is shown here flanked by Mrs. Veronika Burgess, Morgan-Scott youth adviser, and Bob Hayward, Jr., Morgan county assistant farm adviser.

The proclamation urges "all citizens to show appreciation to 4-H club members and leaders by encouraging others to join in this worthwhile association."

The mayor observed that "in Morgan county there are more than 80 adults active in 4-H work, with 650 boys and girls enrolled in 35 clubs. Young people have the opportunity to develop leadership to serve their community, cultivate wholesome habits and traits for better living, and learn through doing."

Area Pork Producers To Attend Swine Day Program In Pittsfield

Many hog raisers of west central Illinois plan to be present when "Swine Day" is held in Pittsfield Thursday. The program will be the same as that presented on the University of Illinois campus last Thursday.

Herb Wender, farm adviser of Pike county, announces that the day will begin with registration at 9:30 p.m. at the American Legion building and the first of a series of research reports by U. I. College of Agriculture specialists will begin at 10 a.m.

A box lunch will be served at noon by the Pike County Home Bureau, and the day's program will close at 3 p.m.

If the day promises to be clear several dealers of equipment used in hog production will set up displays near the Legion building.

Here Last Year

In recent years the annual Swine Day at the University of Illinois has attracted overflow crowds. Last year the same program was given at six regional meetings. The plan met with gratifying response. The regional meeting held at Jacksonville High school brought out more than 600 herdsmen from a dozen counties.

Research reports on five different phases of hog raising will be presented during the morning session:

Methods of preventing anemia in baby pigs.

Information roundup on use of antibiotics and arsenicals in swine rations.

Afternoon Session

After lunch M. B. Kirtley of the livestock marketing department will speak on "The Hog Outlook Situation;" F. W. Andrews on "Ideas for Mechanizing Hog Production," and Dr. J. R. Pichard on "Controlling Swine Diseases."

Harry Russell, Don Walker and Dr. A. H. Jensen will be on hand to help with the question and answer period.

Sites of other regional meetings this month are Mt. Vernon, Hillsboro, Macomb, Kewanee, Milledgeville and Dekalb.

Earlier announcements concerning the Pittsfield meeting said it would be held in the Clark theatre.

Ten exciting exhibit stories, presenting opportunities for better farming and better living, will be featured at the 1960 University of Illinois Farm and Home Festival March 31 to April 2.

Greater Gross Income Needed For Same Net

URBANA — The farmer who wants to have $5,000 in net earnings for family living must now plan on a gross income of around $12,500.

D. F. Wilken, University of Illinois farm management specialist, reports that the gross figure has climbed steadily in recent years as costs have taken a greater part of total farm receipts. He figures gross income as total receipts less purchased feed and livestock.

From 1947 to 1949 a farmer could earn $5,000 for family living with about $7,700 gross income. By 1950-53, about $9,100 was required.

As a general guide, farmers should plan on a gross income about two to two-and-one-half times as large as the net income needed for family living, income taxes, interest, debt payment and savings, Wilken points out.

These findings are part of the exhibit to be shown at the 1960 University of Illinois Farm and Home Festival March 31 to April 2. This year's festival features 10 exhibit stories showing opportunities for better farming and better living, a speaking program on timely topics, the Town and Country Art Show and other special features.

Since the International Farm Youth Exchange program began in 1948, more than 1,000 U.S. IFYE delegates have visited 50 countries in Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, the Pacific area and the Middle East.

Waverly Youth Is Area's Star Farmer

A Waverly High senior will represent west central Illinois in the annual Illinois Star State Farmer contest sponsored annually by the Future Farmers of America.

He is Terry Haynes. He won the District III contest held recently in Havana. The district consists of 98 vocational agriculture departments in 18 counties.

TERRY HAYNES

Haynes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Haynes of near Waverly. He is president of the senior class, student council and the national honor society chapter, as well as vice president of the Waverly F.F.A. chapter.

His farming program this year included nine head of beef cattle, a one-third interest in 373 head of hogs, and the production of corn, oats and soybeans on 80 acres of land which he and his brother, Mike, rent.

On May 14 Haynes and four other district winners will be interviewed with their records at Urbana for the selection of the Star State Farmer of Illinois. The winner will be announced at the Illinois State F.F.A. convention at the state fairgrounds in Springfield on June 9.

PLAN AGRONOMY DAY IN CALHOUN COUNTY

HARDIN—An all-day agronomy meeting is planned for next Tuesday, March 8, at the Farm Bureau building, according to Farm Adviser Roscoe Randell. The morning session, which is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., will feature Johnny Pendleton, extension crops specialist of the University of Illinois, who will speak on crop varieties and weed control chemicals, especially the new granular chemicals.

Sharing the morning program will be H. A. Cate of the Dixon Springs Experimental Station, whose subject will be the improvement and more effective use of pastures.

Following the luncheon recess, Wendell Bowers, agricultural engineer from the university, will demonstrate equipment for applying weed control chemicals, both granular and liquid, and he will discuss the use of the equipment.

NFO SEEKS MEMBERS IN MORGAN AND CASS

Two staff organizers of the National Farm Organization were in this area last week seeking to enroll new members.

Fred Deardorff of Auxvasse, Mo., spent most of the week in Morgan county and Frank Watkins of Atlanta, Mo., concentrated his work in Cass county.

The NFO program aims at enhancement and control of commodity prices through collective bargaining with food processors. Both men reported the organization is winning wide support in the Midwest.

Southwestern Michigan often is called the "fruit basket" of the middle west" because of its diversity of fruit crops.

4-H Tractor School To Open Tuesday

The annual tractor safety and maintenance school for 4-H members will begin Tuesday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. It will be held for five consecutive Tuesday evenings at Baumann & Son's implement company on East Morgan street and will conclude with demonstrations and Family Night on April 5.

The school is divided into four graded sections to instruct beginning, intermediate or advanced students. Safety in tractor operation is stressed in all classes.

These 4-H leaders will be aided by Keith Baumann of the implement firm, James Carter and Ed Middendorf of Standard Oil and Assistant Farm Adviser Bob Hayward, Jr.

PASTURES NEXT

Roswell A. Garst, whose farm at Coon Rapids, Iowa was visited by Premier Khrushchev last fall, predicts that the next big "explosion" in fertilizer use in the Midwest will be on permanent pasture.

"Fertilizer shows up like a searchlight on Iowa pastures," he says.

Well-fertilized pastures can help provide some of the low cost feed to support the bigger livestock herds the U. S. will need as our population continues to expand, according to Mr. Garst.

"This increased acreage of fertilized permanent pasture will include land that has regularly been in pasture and also land that has previously been in hay," he says.

ATHLETES TOO!

Athletes representing 33 countries from all over the world gathered at Squaw Valley for one of the greatest of Olympic Winter Games. An interesting "behind the scenes" story comes from the Olympic Village kitchen. Here, chef Peter Rasmussen directed the serving of 2500 meals daily.

Beef was the principal meat served to the athletes, who preferred daily servings of beef because of its body building and nutritional factors.

Sirloin and N. Y. cut steaks came in hefty 12 oz. sizes, and roast beef was sliced generously. However, according to Chef Rasmussen, the Olympic Village luncheon favorite was ground beef patties with an Italian meat sauce. Sounds like our own teen-agers doesn't it!

3 Scholarships Given By PCA

William H. Miller, manager of the Wabash Production Credit association at Lawrenceville, recently presented PCA scholarships to three students in the agriculture school of the University of Southern Illinois. They are William Schaefer, Mason; Robert Wolfe, DeSoto, and Carl Meier, Altamont.

Nolan Warren who received a scholarship for the first part of this year graduated in December. Since graduation he has accepted employment with the Illini Production Credit association at Carlinville.

The scholarships are supported through subscriptions pledged by the 18 Production Credit associations in Illinois including the local Jacksonville Production Credit association. The purpose of the grants is to further research in the farm credit field and to give additional training in farm credit to university students interested in agriculture.

MURRAYVILLE CLUB TO REORGANIZE

The Lone Star 4-H agriculture club of Murrayville will be reorganized Thursday evening, announces Bob Hayward, Jr., assistant farm adviser.

All interested boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21, and their parents are urged to attend the meeting, which will be held at Murrayville grade school at 7:30 p.m.

New leaders will be required, Hayward said, to replace Earl Wright and Bert Shockley. Wright is retiring as co-leader after serving three years and Shockley is moving to Florida.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

Frank Hinds, Station researcher, listed the essential nutrients required by the beef animal as follows: water, energy, protein, minerals, vitamins and Bulk or D. M. The mature, dry beef cow needs 20-22 pounds of dry matter each day. Frank pointed out that we can best conceive of this need for filler or dry matter if we remember that the paunch or rumen of the cow is only a little smaller than a 55-gallon oil drum.

Fleshing Expensive

Jack Lewis, acting superintendent, pointed out that the commercial cow and calf man can ill afford to maintain the beef cow in high flesh. Fattening takes 2½ times as much energy as growth does. Purebred breeders, on the other hand, may use the extra flesh on the cows to help sell breeding stock.

Important - Treat Early

Dr. Mansfield, Station veterinarian, told the group that they could probably pick out animals suffering from parasitism by their appearance; but he reminded them that, when parasitism had advanced that far, parasites had in all probability already robbed the profits.

High Roughage Rations

George Cmarik, in reporting on the self-feeding of pelleted, complete rations to yearling and two-year-old steers, said that the feeding performance on a ration containing 40 percent roughage and 60 percent concentrate was similar in all respects to the performance on a ration made up of 20 percent roughage and 80 per cent concentrate.

Use Stilbestrol

Dick Carlisle, University of Illinois livestock specialist, stated that producers stand to lose a big bonus if they do not include stilbestrol in their steer feeding programs. Dick listed results of several feeding trials and the extra gain from stilbestrol, which ranged from 41 to 84 pounds per steer.

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Recently, we had all boy marchers, but today the girls have an all-girl parade!

SHERYL FAYE BRUCE

The parade is off to a gay start with Sheryl Faye Bruce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruce of Roodhouse, leading the way. Sheryl will blow out 5 candles on her Birthday cake tomorrow, March 7. Probably brother Greg, age 8, will help.

VICKI JO HALL

Dear Junior Page Readers:

My birthday party was held on February 13th, my birthday, and I was three years old.

My Mommy and Daddy had the party for me. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Hall. There were 13 children present, besides me. We played games, made Valentines for our Daddys, and then I opened my birthday presents.

After that, with the help of our Mommies, we cut a big decorated birthday cake, and ate ice cream, cake and candy. It was a big chocolate cake with pink flowers, three candles, and my name on it!

Guests present were: Mrs. Fred Thiel, Jr. and sons, Leslie and Norman; Nancy Prosser; all from Jerseyville: Mrs. Joyce Shafer and sons, Danny and Stevie, from Hillview.

Mrs. Fred Hall and children, Ronnie, Randy, and Cindy, from Murrayville: Mrs. Richard Reynolds and daughter, Clair Ann, from Belltown; Mrs. Paul Bushnell and children, Julie, Molly, and Philip, from Berdan: and my new baby brother, Ricky, who is six months old.

Sincerely,

NANCY KAY JARVIS

It was a double celebration for Nancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Jarvis of Alexander, March 4 for she had her 4th Birthday that day and got over the Chicken Pox too! Nancy is "Tops" in the opinion of her older brother and sister, Terry and Joyce, who are Senior and Junior in Ashland High.

BECKY ZELLER

BRENDA KAY BOSTON

Pensively reminiscing on her third Birthday, February 23, is Miss Brenda Kay Boston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Boston of Winchester.

CYNTHIA SCHNEIDER

Our parade today ends in a flash of color as Cynthia Ann Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schneider of 345 W. Independence, marches by in her pretty red frock and socks.

Cynthia will be 2 years old Tuesday, March 8.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

To march in the Birthday Parade just send your name, address and age—with a snapshot if you have one—to the Jacksonville Junior Journal-Courier two weeks before your Birthday. Photos may be called for as soon as they have appeared in the paper.

If you have a Birthday party, write and tell us about that later.

It's darker tonight
Than a hole in a cave.
The bats went to sleep
On a crest of a wave.
The moon is in hiding
Not one little cricket
Is speaking aloud.
But low and behold
When the sunshine breaks through
Each dear little blue bird
Will know what to do.

Let's Go Birding—

Almost Too Much Unexpectedness

By Emma Mae Leonhard

When we mentioned in a recent conversation with one of our readers that on the morning of February 21 we had seen four Bald Eagles at Sunset Beach, Meredosia, he expressed great surprise that there were any eagles in our area at any time.

As we have mentioned before on this page, we always find a few at Chautauqua Wildlife Refuge, not far from Havana, during the months of December and January. A year ago, we also saw a few at the bridge over the Illinois River at Beardstown.

However, we had never seen eagles at Meredosia before, although we had been told that some wintered at an island near there. Of course, we had not dreamed of seeing even one eagle so late in the winter; March was almost upon us. As we were driving along the road which runs close to the bay and just as we were very near its frozen edge, we saw two majestic mature Bald Eagles sitting where the open water joined the ice, which had not as yet melted.

We did not need binoculars to appreciate the dignity of the two imposing forms of the eagles. Their white heads and tails, the marks of their maturity, lent them great dignity.

Out on the open water were hundreds of American Mergansers in line formations, their long white bodies and black backs shining low on the gray water. Nearer, appeared two American Goldeneyes, beautiful white-looking ducks with black backs and a large white spot between the eye and the bill. In the midst of the unafraid ducks, reposed those two grand eagles, the white purity shared with all the birds.

As we got out of the car, one eagle arose in its usual dignity and flew low over the water to the woods on the other side of the bay. For sometime the second eagle remained without any indication of being afraid of us; then it flew on, evidently to join the other one.

After the two eagles had left, we looked farther down the bay and saw another dignified form in the distance. As we searched the edge of the woods across the water with our binoculars, we saw the fourth Bald Eagle poised in a tree overlooking the water.

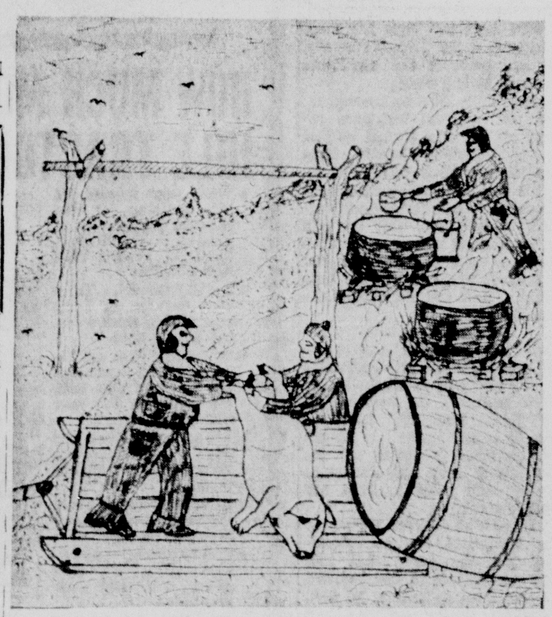
Preparing Own Meat In Long-Ago Days

By Mary Pence Claywell



Part 5: Dressing Hogs

The minute the hog was felled, someone quickly jumped over into the pen and stuck the porker so he would bleed. Then the hog was dragged to the scalding barrel where others already had it filled with steaming water from the kettles.

It took two men, and sometimes more, to souse a big hog in the scalding barrel. They dipped him plenty, to loosen up the stiff bristles, then quickly dragged him out onto the sled, where several pairs of hands began the job of getting the bristles off before he cooled off.

Every man scraped like mad, for it became a burdensome task if great speed weren't used and the bristles set.

My, but the dressed hogs looked pretty with the thick layers of snow-white lard encased in either side against the big ribs. It was peeled out and kept to render along with the other fat trimmings after the hog had been quartered.

Folks didn't worry about lank, lean hog types in those days. Two cans of lard were better than one any day.

As soon as the hogs were safe on the bar, the men were called in to dinner, and old Buster, the good farm dog, was left to guard the dressed hogs while the men ate. He saw to it that no cats or chickens came near.

Radio For Boys—

How Armstrong Oscillator Works

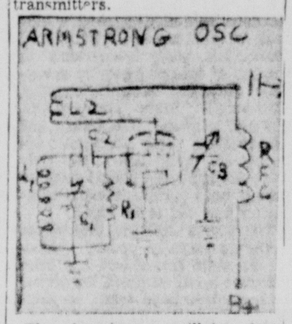
By Joseph A. Smith

Any transmitter you may use as an amateur will consist of these basic parts: (1) An Oscillator, (2) A Buffer or Double Amplifier (if used), (3) A Final Amplifier.

Now let's look a bit closer into this; after all, you wouldn't attempt to work on a car unless you knew something about it, would you?

Oscillator

All types must possess three essential factors: (1) must amplify the signal it generates, (2) must have feedback in proper reinforcing phase to sustain oscillation, and (3) must have an oscillatory circuit. Perhaps the two most commonly used circuits are the Armstrong (such as is used in small regenerative receivers) and the Tuned Plate Tuned Grid (T.P.T.G.) such as is used in many novice transmitters.



The Armstrong oscillator (see diagram) consists of a tuned circuit (C1 & L1), a grid leak resistor and capacitor (R1 & C2), a feedback winding (generally wound just below L1), and a R.F. Choke in series with the B-plus supply source.

Current will flow from ground through the tube, through L2 (feedback winding), and then through the R. F. Choke to B-plus. The bias on the grid of the tube is obtained by means of I times R drop across the grid leak resistor R1.

When a signal is applied and grid current flows, this current flowing through R1 produces the usual drop which appears as a negative biasing voltage on the grid. It also charges C2 (negative to the grid side and positive to the grid tank side).

The grid tank circuit L1 a C1 determines to a large extent the frequency at which the oscillator will oscillate. L2, the feedback winding, must not be coupled too closely to the main winding L1, and care must be taken to see that it is wired so as to feed back in phase with the incoming signal so as to support oscillation. C3 controls regeneration.

Thinking Back To Thanksgiving

By Larry Yeager

Thanksgiving is my favorite day,
It makes me glad, it makes me gay,
I thank the Lord for every gift,
Singing to Him, glad praises I lift.

I get up in the autumn air,
Arising without a care,
The sky is blue, the thistles crowned
Leaves are spread all o'er the ground.

God's valley is the very best,

Of pumpkin pie, of fun and play,
Of God's own world, of all his glory,
And of the Pilgrim's colonial story.

I ask the Lord, in silent prayer,
How to help those, who have to stand there.

As I go to the store, to buy a coke

I give him my dime, he smiles at me,
A look at his face, it says thanks to me,
And immediately, his joy is renewed.

He follows me home, with me doth he play,
I ask my mom, if for dinner he may stay,
My mother says yes, and he is so glad,
He gets permission, from his dad.

My dad asked the blessing, to the Lord doth he pray,
He asks of His grace, on this Thanksgiving Day,
He says, "Amen." We start to eat,
My guest makes the comment,
"This turkey is sweet."

As we go outside to play,
We talk of football, we are so gay,
The autumn wind doth blow,

All too soon he has to go.
We eat supper, I read a book,
For one last time, outside I look.
After the book, I've completely read,
I walk to my room, to go to bed.

To all the world, I say good-night,
My mother turns off my bedroom light,
I say my prayers, I breathe in deep,

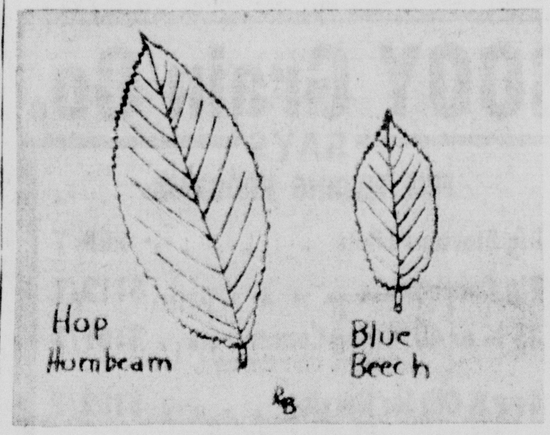
Wonder World—

Why Is This Tree Called Ironwood?

By Rip Barnsdall



Hop Hornbeam

The hop hornbeam is often called the ironwood tree. The wood is very hard and tough.

Because of its small size, it has little commercial value. It is used in making of bows, handles, and wedges.

Blue Beech

The blue beech is not a true beech, but is in the birch family. It goes under another name, that of American Hornbeam.

The blue beech is similar to the hop hornbeam in appearance, and the wood used in much the same way.

Dutch Girl

Here it is March so it won't be very long until we see Dutch tulips right here as pretty as these Gail Handy, age 7, Waverly, has drawn beside this Dutch girl.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

ILLINOIS FARMLAND VALUES EBB FROM PEAK

Illinois farmland values may have passed their peak, at least for a while. The United States Department of Agriculture reports that average values declined 1 per cent from last July to November. Many unofficial reports since December 1 indicate that prices are down $25 to $50 an acre from the high point last summer.

The 1959 summer drouth in central Illinois depressed prices in some communities and may have pulled down the state average from July to November.

Most of the states surrounding Illinois reported small increases in the value of farmland from July to November. Increases were as follows: Missouri, 4 per cent; Iowa, 3 per cent; Minnesota, 2 per cent; Wisconsin and Indiana, 1 per cent; and Kentucky, 3 per cent. Michigan, like Illinois, reported a decline of 1 per cent from July to November.

Values held about steady in the Great Plains, the Pacific Coast states, the Central-South and New York and Pennsylvania. Two to 4 per cent increases were reported in the other eastern states and the Rocky Mountain states. The overall national average increased 1 per cent in the four months.

The Inflation Story

Illinois farmland was worth about five times as much as in 1959 as 26 years before, in 1933. (Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that the dollar is worth only one-fifth as much as it was 26 years ago.)

During the 26 years ended with 1959, Illinois farmland values declined only once, in 1954, and that decline was almost too small to measure. The present decline may be more substantial, for several reasons.

1. Land values are much higher in relation to net farm income than they have been at any time since 1940.

2. The calculated return on land has been less than the interest rate on farm mortgages in four of the past five years.

3. If land values have stopped rising, land has lost its big advantage over bonds as an investment. (Prices of farmland rose about 6 per cent a year for many years, while prices of bonds were stable or declining.)

4. Returns on farmland during most of the past five years have been unusually low in comparison with returns from common stocks. (In 1959 average common stocks returned 5 to 6 per cent, while the average returns on farmland were estimated at 2½ to 3½ per cent.)

5. Taxes on farmland may increase more than taxes on corporations.

6. Nonfarmer investors may lose their enthusiasm for buying or holding low-profit farmland.

Hinged to Inflation

Many people have said that the demand for land for farm enlargement will hold prices up. But farm operations can be enlarged by renting additional land. Some farmers with savings to invest may make more by investing in livestock or farm equipment, or in nonfarm securities.

The longer run trend in farmland values will depend upon whether or not our wage-cost inflation is brought under control.

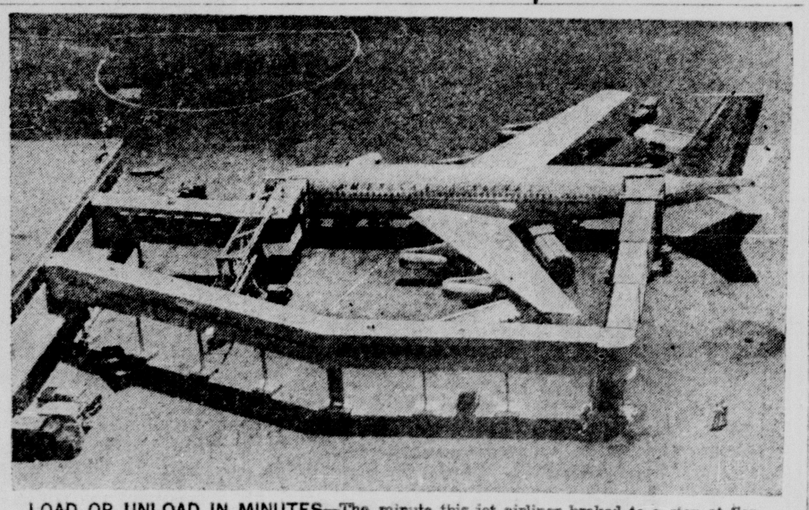
Versatile Meat Loaf

Today's modern shopper looks for versatility in almost anything that is purchased, whether it be in the line of home furnishings, or clothing, or the foods that go on the family table. Few foods can compare in versatility with ground meats, and this picture gives only a limited number of ideas of the variety that can be achieved merely by shaping the same meat mixture into assorted uses. Ground meats can also be made to serve individual preferences through the use of a wide range of seasonings and ingredients. Beef, pork, veal, lamb, and cured pork can all be used in the ground form and can be used individually or in combination, such as suggested in the recipe. Thus no family need ever tire of ground meat because the possibility of creating an entirely new dish is always present, and the making of a meat loaf is only one of the many ways in which ground meat can be used.

In this recipe for Versatile Meat Loaf — Shaped to Please, the ingredients remain the same regardless of the various ways it is shaped. However, the length of cooking time will vary, and care should be taken to observe the times listed. Combine 1½ pounds of ground beef, ½ pound ground pork, ½ cup grated carrots, ½ cup chopped onion, 1½ cups soft whole wheat bread crumbs, 1/3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, and 2 eggs slightly beaten. Mix thoroughly. Shape into individual loaves or pack firmly into pan of desired shape. This recipe will yield twelve muffins, using 2½ inch diameter muffin pans; twelve 1-inch thick patties, 2½ inches in diameter; six loaves 3x3 ½x1½ inches; a 1½-quart ring or a 5x9-inch loaf. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for the following lengths of time: muffins, patties or individual loaves, 25 to 30 minutes; ring, 40 minutes; and the 5x9-inch loaf, 1 hour. Shaped individual loaves may be wrapped in bacon, if desired. Each variation in shape will yield 6 to 8 servings.



LOAD OR UNLOAD IN MINUTES—The minute this jet airliner braked to a stop at San Francisco International Airport, the two moveable corridors of a "jetway" joined the fuselage at front and rear. The $100,000 unit can load or unload the 112-passenger ship in two to three minutes. The glass-enclosed, red-carpeted jetway protects the passengers from elements and airport fumes and noises. An operator controls the movements of the corridors from a panel.

Dr. Olson Speaker For Tuesday Club

Tuesday Club's annual Bible Day was observed the afternoon of March first at the home of Mrs. Francis Plouer, 9 Sunset Hill. Mrs. Ralph Woods, president, conducted the business session. She announced the appointment of program and nominating committees.

Mrs. T. U. Smirl was in charge of the program and introduced Dr. L. E. Olson, pastor of First Baptist church. Dr. Olson spoke on My Impressions of the Holy Land. Because of his trip to Palestine and other countries a few years ago he was able to give personal experiences and he expressed keen insight in the country and its people. That trip he mentioned as "an unforgetable experience." He began his talk by giving a graphic description of the typography of Palestine. He described the geographical divisions and called attention to towns, rivers and mountains mentioned in the Bible.

In closing his remarks he paid tribute to the people of the Holy Land for providing the background of our religion and culture.

A social hour was enjoyed and lovely refreshments were served. Mrs. Frank Plouer, assisted the hostess in serving. Besides Dr. Olson, Mrs. Olson was a guest.

Musical Program For Murrayville Woman's Club At Wilson Home

Because of illness and bad weather only nine members answered roll call naming a river, city or state made famous in song. The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag led by the hostess.

The business session was conducted by the vice president, Mrs James Symons. Announcement was made that a silent auction will be held at the next meeting March 9 at the home of Mrs. Fred Simpson.

The treasurer's report was made by Mrs. T. G. Beadles.

Mrs. Symons, as program chairman, presented the departmental music chairman, Mrs. M. J. Benscoter. Mrs. Benscoter had prepared an outstanding program carrying on the motif of the roll call.

She prefaced the audience participation program with an article on "Music and the Gods," noting the ancient Greeks and Romans who revered gods in their myths and legends.

According to announcement-instruction by Mrs. Benscoter the following was heard: Mrs. S. B. Robinson, reading words to the state song, "Illinois," followed with group singing.

"Maryland, My Maryland," duet by Mrs. Symons and Mrs. Wilson; "Tennessee Waltz," whistled by Mrs. James L. Solomon; vocal solo, "Back Home Again in Indiana," Mrs. Benscoter.

The Society was pleased to learn that as the result of a meeting of the Memorial Committee for the new Nurses' Home, that Aid will be honored with a memorial plaque to be enscribed, "In Tribute for Faithful Service by the Aid Society Since 1816."

An invitation was read for members of the Aid to attend a Community Tea to be held Friday afternoon, March 11, at Hotel Dunlap with members of the Passavant and Our Saviour's Alumnae as hostesses. The occasion commemorates National Nurses Week.

Mrs. Martin Cohen, chairman of Ways and Means, discussed some money-making plans for this year, to take the place of the previously sponsored Follies that brought revenue.

A number of the members will attend the Illinois 8th District Hospital Auxiliary meeting to be held March 11 at Rushville.

Woman's Club Pays Hospital Pledge

The Jacksonville Woman's Club made its final payment on a $150 pledge to the Passavant Memorial Area Hospital Nurses Home Building Fund last week and at the same time made a donation to the hospital's School of Nursing Student Loan Fund.

Recently the club received a citation from Volunteer Services Department, Jacksonville State Hospital, for sponsorship of Ward parties at the Hospital.

New Berlin Tea For Future Homemakers

NEW BERLIN—The FHA of the New Berlin High School held an impressive formal initiation installation and tea on Monday evening in the community room of the high school. Mothers of members were invited guests.

The candlelight ceremony opened with the initiates marching in accompanied by the eight guides, all in colorful formals, as Nancy Leigh Cox played the processional. President Pat Coe welcomed the 25 initiates, and the eight guides read the eight purposes of FHA. Secretary Cecelia Reichart read the name of each initiate, as Treasurer Andrea McCullough pinned them with the FHA emblem.

The vocal ensemble, composed of Donna Isaacks, Pat Coe, Nancy Knudsen, Nancy Cox, Ruth Rinaldo, Karen Courter, Sandra Nichols, and Sara Lovekamp entertained the group with a song. They were accompanied by Janet Maginn at the piano.

Excerpts of playlets were given by three of the members with Judie Hitt giving her rendition of "Sorry, Wrong Number." Nancy Coe gave "Mothers of Men," and Janet Reichart gave an excerpt from the Glass Menagerie, "Blue Roses." Andrea McCullough gave an oration, "Without A Song."

Following the program, refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed tea table centered with red roses, the club flower. The lovely silver tray, given the club by Mrs. Walter Riess, former Chapter Mother, was used for the first time. Donna Isaacks and Darleen Gansbauer presided at the coffee urn and punch bowl, with the refreshments of dainty open-faced sandwiches, hors d'oeuvre, nuts and mints furnished by the Home Economics Class No. III.

Miss Dorothy Anley, Home Economics instructor and her student teacher assistant, are advisors and Chapter Mother is Mrs. John Biesenthal. Richard Danenberger is Chapter Father, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Trimble are assistant Chapter Father and Mother, respectively.

FHA officers are president, Pat Coe; vice president, Ruth Ann Trimble; secretary, Cecelia Reichart; treasurer, Andrea McCullough; reporter, Sharon Moffitt; parliamentarian, Sharon Burke; chairman of projects, Carol Biesenthal; historians, Judie Loving and Marilyn Danenberger; chairman of recreation, Donna Isaacks.

LESS WORK TO BUY ANNUAL FARM BASKET—Wage earners had to work about three-fourths as many hours to pay for the market basket of farm foods in 1959 as they did in 1947-49. Though dollar cost has risen 11 per cent, wage rates have increased and farmers' prices have declined. Chart is based on annual purchases of farm foods by urban families in 1952; retail cost, marketing spread and farm value are divided by average net hourly earnings of manufacturing workers. 'Big Inch', Big Hit

By Dr. Ethel Seybold

The Hilltop Players moved into the amateur field on Thursday night with their original musical, "Big Inch," and turned out an excellent performance.

The director, Darrell Reagan, and his co-director, John O'Neal, must have used some form of magic to synchronize the efforts of four authors, a composer, a choreographer, and some fifty-six assorted actors, singers, and dancers of varying degrees of ability and experience, each of whom had his part in the planning and on the stage.

"Big Inch" dramatizes the impact of a gang of pipeliners on the village of Garnett, Kansas. As the construction project moves along, the antagonism of the town changes into acceptance of the gang and finally into something close to affection. This change is underlined by the romance — pleasantly, but not painfully serious — of the gang boss and the high school glee club teacher, and by a tragic accident which kills one of the members of the gang and arouses the sympathies of the villagers.

The pipeliners were well characterized: Line Nailer, the boss, a cut above the others, aware that "The world's more than a whiskey bottle," but young, tough, and unsentimental, realistically played by Dale Bellovich; Frog, the soft old cynic, the harmonica playing Whitey the Kid, just learning the job; and two others, nameless, but distinguished for this reviewer, the one by his square dance calling, the other by his beautiful boots!

The villagers were amusing caricatures: Zeb and Hank, the checker players; Prudence Goodbeam (Gertrude Lueskens), who directs the band and teaches girls' physical education at the high school; the quiet mayor and his noisy wife; the chorus of Garrett matrons all delightfully distinct personalities; the personified inefficiency of the railway station staff —deaf Charley, the janitor (Dru Green), Henry the station master, blind without his spectacles, and Sam the postmaster, just plain dumb.

The music was as heartily satisfying as the script. Don Stewart, composed it, played the piano accompaniments for the lyrics, and sang "Wanderlust," the big song of Act III, to his own guitar accompaniment. Other song and dance highlights were the square dance, "With a Whoop 'n a Holler," called by John O'Neal; "Pris's Pride," rendered by Judy O'Dea; and the girls' physical education number, "We All Hate P. E." with its hideous perfection of costume. Lyrics for the songs were written by Co - Director John O'Neal, Kay De Milligan and Martha Thomason, two of the authors of the play, and by freshman Larry Stowers, also in the cast. John Hager directed the choruses, and Louise Bruyn was choreographer.

There were two interesting technical gimmicks in the production: the enormous L-shaped stage, partially enclosing the audience, and the frozen waviness immobility of temporarily non - participating groups, which furnished background for and spotlighted the action on the stage.

The young authors (Virginia Ramsey, Don Stewart, Martha Thomason, and Kay De Milligan) plan to copyright their opus and make it available to other college groups.

Short Program

Mrs. Frank F. McCarthy will present a short program of some of her travels; Senior Scouts who attended International Roundup last July will tell of their talks with girls from other countries, and there will be a short resume of Girl Guiding in England.

March 12, the date of the tea, is also the 48th birthday of Girl Scouting in this country and is the last day of Girl Scout Week.

Mrs. R. Y. Rowe, Jr., is leader of Troop No. 1. Members of the Program committee of the Board of Directors of Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council, Mrs. William Gross, chairman, have arranged the program for the tea. Mrs. George McNamara, chairman of the Public Relations committee, and her committee also assisted in the plans

New Berlin Defeats Routt In Regional Playoff, 47-43

Petersburg Bows To Forman Braves, 54-44

HAVANA—After taking a close win in the semifinal round of the Havana Regional Tournament, the Forman Braves of Manito came back to take the final round over Petersburg by 10 points, 54-44.

Forman opened the tilt with fine shooting from the field, but was hampered by negative reading from the charity line. With 6'2" forward Ben Middleton leading the attack and Herman Kreiling grabbing the rebounds for the Braves, Forman pulled to a 2 point lead as the first quarter came to a close, 14-12.

Not to be outdone, the Blue Jays fought hard in the second canto and pulled ahead, with the lead changing hands until the Petersburg five came out with a 1 mark margin lead at the half, 23-22.

The third stanza proved to be just as exciting as the first half of the contest as the two squads fought hard for a marginal lead. As the quarter drew to a close the Forman five found themselves leading the game by a close 2 points, 38-36, with the honor going to a smooth working Brave group.

As the final canto moved along, Forman moved ahead with Petersburg finding themselves unable to match the Braves offensive play, as the victors collected the ticket enabling them to move into sectional play.

Forman had the scoring standouts in Ben Middleton with 18 and J. D. Proehl adding 16. The main rebounder for the Braves, Herman Kreiling, collected 10 markers in addition to a good number of rebounds.

Don Shavgo paced Petersburg with 15, with two other men adding their support in Dawson and Bebbe with 12 and 10 respectively.

Gisy Leads Jerseyville Past White Hall, 73-55

WHITE HALL—Gail Gisy was the offensive standout of the final game in the White Hall Regional Tournament Friday night as he paced the Jerseyville Panthers to a 73-55 win over the host Maroons.

Jerseyville opened the contest with southpaw center Gisy hitting from the keyhole, against a cold Maroon five, as the visitors continued to keep the upper hand at the end of the first canto 21-9. In the second quarter the White Hall crew was able to hold their own as they moved to within 15 of the top by the time the midway point of the game rolled around with the score reading 38-23.

The third quarter proved another cold one for the Maroons, as they were able to collect only 10 points, but the Panthers were not hampered any as they continued to pour in the buckets, putting the reading at 59-33 at the end of the third canto. The final session was a good one for the hosts as they ran through 22 points, but the big Jerseyville lead was hard to overcome as the Maroons were handed a defeat, their 13th of the year. Jerseyville now owns a 13-14 standing.

Gail Gisy opened the spectators' eyes as he pumped in 35 points during the tilt, 13 of which came from the field. Only one other Panther man was able to hit the double figures as Andes racked up 12.

Sam Campbell paced White Hall with 20 points, mostly from the field, and John Ford followed up with 10. White Hall stayed up with the winners percentage wise as the Maroons made a 30% reading, over a 31.5% reading for Jerseyville.

Springfield Trounces Feitshans Flyers, 60-43

SPRINGFIELD — Coach Ray Page's Senators had too much height and defense for Feitshans to cope with and the defending State Champs trounced the Flyers in the Griffin Springfield Regional Friday night, 60-43.

The losers scored only nine points in the first period and only six more in the second stanza to trail at halftime by 12 points, 27-15.

Springfield held a 42-27 advantage after three quarters to nail down its 25th win against only four defeats. The loss was the 11th for the Flyers against 17 wins.

Lee Palham, Bob Plohr and Tom Frick tossed in 19, 16 and 14 respectively for the regional winners, who now advance to the Jacksonville Sectional.

New College Star Will Emerge Next Season

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A new college basketball star will emerge next season, in the wake of the graduation of Oscar Robertson and Jerry West. And the selection of the 1960 collegiate basketball All-America by The Associated Press Friday indicates the successor to the "Big O" and the "Cabin Creek Comet" will be Jerry Lucas of Ohio State.

Robertson, 6-foot-5 of Cincinnati, and West, 6-foot-3 of West Virginia, were far ahead in the voting by 329 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation. Their skill and finesse is well known and it was no surprise that they repeated from 1959. In fact, this is the third straight year Robertson made the All-America.

Lucas, 6-foot-8 sophomore who sparked Ohio State to its first Big Ten title in more than a decade, polled 23 first place votes to 311 for Robertson and 304 for West. This showing points to him as next year's individual standout.

Darrall Imhoff, the 6-foot-10 senior who led California to its first NCAA title in 1959 and who will help defend the crown in this year's tourney, also was named on the first team along with Tony Jackson, junior star of the defending National Invitation champs, St. John's of New York.

Imhoff polled 234 first place votes, but the 6-foot-4 Jackson, barely gained the first team nod with 61 to 58 for Tom Stith, 6-foot-5 junior from St. Bonaventure.

Stith topped the second team selection composed also of Terry Dischinger of Purdue, Roger Kaiser of Georgia Tech, Chet Walker of Bradley, and Len Wilkens of Providence.

Tribe Coaches Feel Score Will Top League Again

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Cleveland coaches believe Herb Score will again become the scourge of the American League, if he can regain his confidence.

"There is no physical reason why Herb shouldn't have a good year," Mel Harder, the Tribe's veteran pitching coach, said Friday.

The Indians have hired Score's minor league Pitching coach, Ted Wilks, hoping he'll help the fireballing left-hander regain the form that won 39 games for the Tribe in 1955 and 1956.

Since May 7, 1957, when he was struck by a line drive off the bat of New York Yankee Gil McDougald, Score has had one setback after another.

Fight Results

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Victor Zalazar, a rough, tough hombre from down Argentina way, slammed his way to an upset, split 10-round decision over Yama Bahama, the Bimini fishing guide, Friday night at Madison Square Garden. Zalazar weighed 159¼, Bahama 157.

It was a close battle with both fighters throwing punches from all corners. They belted each other from one end of the ring to the other.

Once in the sixth, Bahama took a series of rights and lefts to the head and wound up in a neutral corner, his head and upper part of his body outside the ropes.

NO CHEAP HOMERS

Denver, Colo. (AP) — Bears Stadium in Denver will no longer be a home run haven when American Assn. teams appear here the coming baseball season.

Both the centerfield and leftfield fences will be moved back. The new dimensions will be 430 feet to center instead of 389 feet and 345 feet in the leftfield corner instead of 335 feet.

EVENLY MATCHED

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Twice in two years, freshman basketball teams of Marshall College and Ohio University have played to ties.

Under Mid-American Conference rules, preliminary games must end 30 minutes before varsity games start. When time was up here this season, the Marshall frosh and the Ohio U. Bobkittens were deadlocked, 83-83. Last season at Athens, Ohio, they were tied, 77-77.

STARTING IN D BALL

ORANGE, N. J. (AP) — Ronald Diamond, 19-year-old second baseman who starred for Colgate University last season, has signed a 1960 contract with the Geneva Rediegs in the Class D New York-Penn League. The 5-foot-11 athlete was signed by Cincinnati scout Chuck Ward, discoverer of Robin Roberts of the Phils.

SUNDAY SAILORS

CHICAGO, Ill. —(NEA)— The Chicago Boat Show set an all-time attendance mark for one day this year with a record 49,316 attending a Sunday show.

WHO'S NERVOUS . . . NOT US!

New Berlin's cheerleaders were probably the 'coolest' of any of the large crowd watching the finals of the JHS Regional finals between the Pretzels and Routt Friday night. At least they didn't seem excited although it was a close game all the way. However, the photo indicates the two girls were under a little strain as the tugging of the neck and wringing of the hands, indicates. At least they aren't talking to themselves — that's more than a lot of the fans can say who attended the thrill-packed week of the regional playoff.

Pittsfield Topples Brown County, 57-53

BEARDSTOWN — A packed bowl saw the Pittsfield Saukees advance to the first round of the sectionals with a close 57-53 win over Brown County's Hornets, with Gary Curtis leading the Saukee attack with 21 markers, 11 of which he picked up from the charity line.

Both teams opened up cold in the first quarter, with Brown County being the coldest and able to collect only 4 markers, while Pittsfield put 13 through the hoop.

In the second canto the action was more even as the Hornets crept up on the lead, and with the clock reading 1:18 left in the first half, Dick McCormick knotted the tilt at 23-all, and then continued to pump in a free throw to give the Hornets their first lead of the game, 24-23.

Back and forth action marked the third stanza with neither team enjoying a lead of more than 3, and in the exciting last 18 seconds of the quarter BC took the lead, 39-37, giving them a 2 point margin to begin the final canto on.

The Saukees caught fire in the final session, and in the final three minutes were able to overtake the lead as Bob Patton sank a lay up on a fast break situation, giving the Pittsfield crew the needed spark to move into a large lead. From then on it was Pittsfield all the way as they ran the score up to a 57-53 win.

Both teams shot pretty close in the free throw percentage area with Brown County enjoying a slight edge. The Saukees hit on 21 of 32 attempts giving them a 44% showing, compared with 13 of 24 for the Hornets or a 47% situation.

Ed Seckman of the Mt. Sterling five tied with Gary Curtis for high scoring laurels for the evening, each collecting 21 markers. From the field Brown County High was able to rack up 20 field goals over 18 for the Saukees, but the difference was more than made up in the charity toss column, giving the win to the Pittsfield five.

Pincks Triumph Over Chester, 20-18, To Lead Field Into Sectionals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top-ranked Pinckneyville, held to a mere 20 points, Friday night led a field of favorites into sectional play of the Illinois High School Basketball Tournament.

The Pincks squeezed out a 20-18 triumph over determined Chester for their 29th victory against a lone defeat.

Galesburg, Schlarman, Proviso East, Decatur, Kankakee and Springfield—all ranked among the top ten—were victorious but there were a few scares.

Schlarman had to fight off Danville's rallies for a 61-60 triumph and Decatur had to go into overtime to defeat MacArthur 51-49. Decatur, ranked seventh, blew a couple of free throws in the final seconds of regulation play and then stalled in the overtime until the final second when Al Risby scored on an 18-footer.

Galesburg, the 4th ranked team had no difficulty and clobbered Corpus Christi, 78-45.

Proviso East, No. 6, played without center Dennis Griffin, but got 22 points from Ron Buchanan to trounce East Leyden 76-50.

Shawneetown, which went into the regional finals as the state's only undefeated team with a 25-0 record, fell before McLeansboro 65-58. Shawneetown had been ranked 14th.

A strange battle took place in the Palatine Regional where Arlington Heights scored a 57-56 overtime triumph over Prospect. Prospect and Arlington were split at the beginning of the fall semester and most of the players were teammates last year.

Aside from the Decatur and Arlington Heights victories, overtime games saw Lockport defeat Bloom 54-49 and Sherrard down Atwood 46-42.

Elgin, No. 13, sped past Crystal Lake 65-45 on a balanced attack led by Howard Bramer's 15 points. At Milledgeville, Dennis Radabugh scored 26 to lead Savanna to a 59-57 triumph over favored Fulton.

Sam Jones of San Francisco and Lou Burdette and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee, the National League's only 20 game winners in 1959, had identical 21-15 records.

Perrelli Has Scoring Title In His Grasp

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A strong closing burst has virtually clinched the small college individual basketball scoring championship for Don Perrelli of Southern Connecticut State.

Perrelli, a senior, closed out his season with a 31.5 point average. He made 204 points in his last six games.

This whirlwind closing took the lead from Warren Spraggins of Virginia Union, who also has finished his campaign. He has a 30.4 average.

Jim Weinstein of Franklin & Marshall is the small college free throw leader in latest statistics of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. He has a .917 percentage (on 77 of 84) compared with Ron Slaynaker of Emporia State, who has finished his season with 80 of 98 for .900. Weinstein has one game to play.

Through games of Feb. 27, Mississippi College was the team offense leader with an imposing 114.2 average—almost 10 points better than West Virginia Tech, in second place. Wittenberg (Ohio) tops defense units, limiting foes to an average of 46.2 points a game.

AFL Sets Up Balanced Loop

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) —A balanced league designed to produce high grade pro football across the nation was set up Friday by the new American Football League. It adopted a formula to beef up the Oakland franchise with 35 more players picked from the seven other teams.

Oakland, as the last entry in the league, has been the main problem because of lack of players.

"We are going to have top football right from the start this fall and, under the selections Oakland will get, they will have a golden opportunity to become one of the teams to beat," said Commissioner Joe Foss in announcing the player formula.

Officials of all eight teams are meeting in Oakland.

Owners, managers and coaches next went into television and radio problems. Foss said all radio arrangements will be handled on a local basis by individual clubs. But television will be in the hands of the commissioner.

He said it has been proposed the league arrange a nationwide hookup featuring a game of the week. In some areas, he said, there will be local arrangements under regional sponsorship. It is likely that each club will televise its road games back to its home city.

CHEERING IS OUT

LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Olga Hytrek, freshman cheerleader at Lusk high school, will be on the bench for the final games.

Pretzels Grab First Regional Honors In 19 Years Friday Night

By STAN SPOTTS
Journal Courier Sports Editor

Coach Bill Hovey's Pretzels gave New Berlin its first Regional Championship in 19 years and extended their winning string to 21 straight with a 47-43 victory over second-seeded Routt Friday night in the JHS Regional finals.

After trailing most of the third quarter, New Berlin came on strong in the final canto behind the eight points of Senior Tim Sullivan to lead the rest of the way and notch its 25th victory against only one setback.

Routt had pulled within one point of the lead with 4:23 remaining in the championship tilt when Sullivan hit two consecutive buckets for a 42-37 margin with 3:07 left and New Berlin was in command the rest of the way.

It had been a long dry spell for the Pretzels, who hadn't won a regional since 1941. The drought ended Friday night as New Berlin's height was the difference on Routt's speed, which was contained most of the way.

Shooting Percentages

New Berlin dominated the shooting percentages, hitting seven of 15 in the first quarter and nine of 24 for the first half for 37 per cent. The winners made five of 16 in the third quarter and finished with a game mark of 40 per cent on 20 of 50 attempts hitting the mark.

SECTIONAL TICKETS
The JHS share of sectional tickets will go on sale at the High School office at eight a.m. Monday. There are about 500 ducats available.

Routt managed three for 17 in the opening eight minutes of play and nine of 34 for a 26.5 percentage in the first half. The losers hit only four of 11 in the third quarter but wound up with a game mark of 28.5 per cent on 17 of 59 tries.

Dominate First Period

In a game that was billed height vs speed, it looked as though New Berlin was going to wrap the verdict up quickly after the Pretzels broke away from two ties, 2-2, and 4-4. They maintained anywhere from a three to seven point margin in the closing three minutes of play with Compardo setting the pace for six points while Sullivan and Edwards chipped in with four apiece.

With their height controlling the boards, New Berlin led by seven at the first stopping point, 14-7. The oddity of the opening period was the fact that Routt didn't commit any fouls or at least the officials didn't call any. Both clubs employed zone defenses, thus forcing each other to rely on outshooting and New Berlin's seven of 15 shots was the first quarter difference.

Rockets Rally

In the second canto, New Berlin kept rolling along to maintain anywhere from a six-to-nine point spread in the first three and a half minutes. After Routt was charged with its first foul in the first half with 4:27 left before halftime, Sullivan sank the charity award for a 19-12 point margin. Then while New Berlin was going scoreless the rest of the way, Routt began closing the gap on successive buckets by Ed Carroll, Fred Curtis, Tom Shanle, and Curtis again, (with 26 seconds left) gave Routt its first lead of the game and a 20-19 margin at halftime.

Curtis' three buckets and free throw and single buckets by Shanle, Ed Carroll and George Trutter led Routt's 13 point quarter. New Berlin's five-point stanza came as the result of single baskets by Compardo and Bob Bond plus a charity throw by Sullivan.

For the first half, Routt had only two fouls while New Berlin was charged with five. The Rockets made two of seven free throw attempts while the Pretzels scored one of two throws from the charity line.

Routt Tops In Third

Bill Hovey's aggregation saw the lead only once in the third canto and that came on Compardo's layup five seconds after the quarter tip-off which overcame Routt's one point halftime lead.

Although the Pretzels managed to keep coming from behind to knot the score five times, it was always Routt going out in front and the Pretzels pursuing to catch up. New Berlin caught up for the 5th time with 1:26 left on Bond's driving layup for a 30-30 tie but Ed Carroll's free throw with 1:07 showing on the scoreboard offset the tie score and gave Routt a slim 31-30 lead to work on going into the fourth chapter.

Pretzels The Victor

Tim Sullivan squashed Rocket hopes of maintaining any lead 42 seconds following the fourth quarter tip as he hit two free throws to overcome Routt's one point lead and New Berlin was in front to stay at this point, 32-31.

Routt came within one point of the lead twice, 34-33, and 38-37, on baskets by Ed Carroll and Fred Curtis. But Sullivan broke Routt's rally with two buckets, the final coming at 3:07 to give the regional champs a 42-37 margin to work on.

New Berlin almost blew its margin in the final 30 seconds of play when Compardo and Winkler missed one and one bonus awards and Routt was only four points off the pace, 46-42.

But Routt couldn't capitalize although Tom Shanle converted one of two free throws to slice the deficit to three points, 46-43, with six seconds remaining. With time running out, Winkler added a little insurance with a free throw for the 47-43 finale as only three seconds remained on the scoremaster.

The loss snapped Routt's winning record after four straight and ended season's play on a 25 win, four loss mark. Fred Curtis took Rocket scoring laurels with 20 points, nine of which came in the second half.

The Pretzel scoring was more evenly balanced with Tim Sullivan's 15 markers sparking the offense. Bob Bond and Carl Compardo also checked in with a fine night with 12 points each. Although he managed only three points, Ed Harney was New Berlin's sparkplug in the rebounding department along with Bond, Sullivan and Compardo.

New Berlin now faces Springfield High, the defending state champion, in the first encounter of the JHS Sectional Tournament Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in the JHS Bowl.

Litchfield Has Easy Time With Staunton Five

CARLINVILLE—Mighty Litchfield overpowered the Staunton Bulldogs Friday night to advance into sectional tourney play, with an 85-63 win. Two big men, Ron Schars and McCullough, proved too much for the Staunton five as Schars pumped in 23 and McCullough 20 to pace the Purple Panthers. Larry Kuba paced Staunton with 20 markers.

Litchfield pulled to an early lead and was able to maintain it for the rest of the game, without too much contention from the Bulldogs. The halftime score stood at 35-23 favoring the Panthers, and the fourth period opened up the lead even more with the final score standing at a comfortable 85-63 victory for the Litchfield squad.

As I See It
by E. W. BROWN

Here in the U. S. we have the greatest choice of food in the world . . . and probably the greatest number of diets to keep us from enjoying it. A news story reports that American men are losing the battle of the bulge. The national waistline is on a rising curve. 74% of all belts sold in 1946 were size 34 or smaller . . . now less than 50% are 34 or smaller. That's as revealing as a broken window shade. Good home cooking is bringing out what the drill sergeant tried to make the boys pull in. A simpler survey could have been made by peeking into the nation's clothes closets. They're probably filled with uniforms of ex-soldiers, sailors and marines who couldn't get into them now . . . even with a Presidential order.

A fancy men's store in New York advertised two linen handkerchiefs at $115 each . . . but nobody bought them. What a blow! And an expensive mistake. You, too, can make an expensive mistake if you let a small noise in your car's motor develop into a major repair job. Before that happens, bring your car to E. W. Brown. Our expert mechanics will find and fix that trouble quickly, saving you large repair bills in the future. And while your car is in the shop, use the time for a test drive in the new 1960 Plymouth. E. W. Brown . . . 1 South Main. Phone 5-4333.

With The Girl Scouts

Today is Girl Scout Sunday, beginning the annual observance of Girl Scout Week. Many troops have made plans to attend church together. Others will separate and individual members will attend churches of their choice. Each girl will wear her uniform if she has one. In fact, uniforms should be worn all week.

Special activities are planned for each day of Girl Scout Week. Monday is Homemaking day, Tuesday is Citizenship day, Wednesday Health and Safety day, Tuesday International Friendship day, Friday Arts and Crafts day and Saturday Out-of-Doors day. In addition, Saturday is the 48th birthday of Girl Scouting in this country. Senior Scout Troop No. 1 has planned an International Tea for that day to be held at the Strawn Art Home with guests being residents of the Council area who are natives of some other country.

Exhibits

Also, during Girl Scout week, there will be exhibits of troop crafts throughout the four counties in the Council. In Jacksonville, there will be exhibits at Sears and Kline's Department stores. Troops at Jefferson school will have a display at Kline's.

The Board of Directors of Illinois Prairie Council will meet Wednesday morning, March 9, at 9:30 a.m. at the Scout office.

Greene county leaders will meet Tuesday, March 8, at 1:30 p.m. at the Greenfield school. Mrs. Hartman will present a workshop on "Dolls and Puppets" at each neighborhood meeting this month. Cass county neighborhood will meet Thursday, March 10, 9:30 a.m. in Beardstown.

The Finance committee of the Board of Directors will meet Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Scout office.

Every community in the four-county Council area except five was represented at the cookie workshop held Tuesday, March 1, at the First Presbyterian church in this city. Mrs. Eva Anderson of Chicago explained the mechanics of the cookie sale, distributed materials and then gave a fascinating craft workshop, showing the leaders how to use cookie boxes and cartons to make interesting and useful items.

Committee meetings held last week at the Scout office included Camp and Program committee, both of which were well-attended and were successful plan.. g sessions.

Forty-two Girl Scouts, older Intermediates and Seniors, assisted at the International Fair on Saturday, working by twos in shifts of one and one half hours, acting as guides and hostesses.

Troop Activities

Among the many Girl Scout troops attending church today together will be: Troop No. 27 of which Mrs. Ralph Sullivan is leader, attending both Sunday school and church at Salem Lutheran church; Troop No. 36, Mrs. Nick Gioscio leader, and Troop No. 46, Mrs. Ruth Reid and Mrs. Robert Scott, leaders, both of Lincoln school, attending Central Christian church.

Brownie Troop No. 100 of Virginia staged an "Around the World Friendship Show" as a special meeting project for February. Barbara Alexander and Karla Leonhard gave a reading from an old English child's verse book to open the program.

Group singing included songs of our country, "Casey Jones." "Deep in the Heart of Texas," and "The Big Rock Candy Mountain."

JoAnn Daniel and Kay McCausland entertained with a Hindu mind-reading demonstration. The craft show exhibited useful and decorative craft items from Belgium, Holland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Ceylon, Japan, and the United States.

The program closed with a panel game, "What's My Line," in which Jean Stock was the winning contestant.

Brownie Troop No. 55 of Jefferson school, a new troop just registered this week, is already busy doing things for others. They have already started service crafts, making a large number of Easter baskets to be distributed at Easter time at various hospitals and nursing homes. In addition this troop will make small favors from time to time for patients in an acute ward at the Jacksonville State hospital, where the troop leader, Mrs. Bertha Lambert, works. These second graders are setting a fine example for older troops to follow.

Having completed work on their child care badge, members of Intermediate Troop No. 36 of Lincoln school are now working on the personal health badge. In connection with this, they are planning to pool their troop dues this week and visit the Flamingo Beauty Salon on West State street. They will put their names in a hat and draw one name out, the lucky one picked will have her hair shampooed and set while the rest of the troop watches.

Guest Speaker

Mrs. Marguerite Hug, a native of Switzerland, was the guest speaker last Friday at the meeting of the Intermediate Troop No. 16 of South Jacksonville School which was held at the school. Mrs. Hug told about her childhood in Switzerland and delighted the girls with a description of the Girl Scout International Chalet which is located in Switzerland and which Mrs. Hug has visited. Refreshments were served following the program and the girls presented Mrs. Hug with a pin as gift of appreciation.

Under the guidance of their leader, Mrs. Charles Nicholson, Troop No. 16 has now completed a unit on knot tying. Next week they will begin a three-week first aid course, which will be taught by one of the troop mothers, Mrs. Corinne Plummer, a registered nurse.

On Friday, March 11, representatives of Troop No. 27 and all the members of Troop No. 63, both of Jonathan Turner Junior High school, will present a program for Jacksonville Rotary club. The same program was given last Thursday at the regular meeting of Kiwanis club at the Dunlap Hotel. Mrs. Howard Choate is leader of Troop No. 63.

The girls of Troop No. 27 will begin a home nursing course lasting seven weeks, on Tuesday, March 15. The course, taught by Mrs. Wilfrid Rice, will be held after school for two hours each Tuesday in the basement of the Farm Bureau building. Mrs. Ralph Sullivan is troop leader.

Senior Troop No. 13 held their first meeting as a Senior Troop on Monday, Feb. 29. Election of officers was held and a tentative program was planned. Officers are: President, Kay Odaffer; vice-president, and program chairman, Jeanne Hemphill; reporter-photographer, Kathy Brooks; financial chairman, Dianne Bomke; treasurer, Brenda Mallicoat; secretary, Janis Lindstromberg. Patsy Mudgett and Barbara Primus were appointed members of the program committee and Cindy Fairburn and Jane Sorrells troop callers.

Troop members assisted at the International Fair on March 5, and today the girls attended services at First Baptist church for the beginning of Girl Scout Week.

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A lot of bridge players get scared when someone mentions coups, squeezes and end plays. Some of these plays are complicated enough to scare most experts; others so simple as to be almost automatic.

You note that six clubs would have been a cinch since you could draw trumps and discard one of dummy's spades on your fourth heart, but you are in three no-trump and can count 11 top tricks. Also, you can assume that West has the king of spades because of his vulnerable overcall, so the spade finesse won't work, but you can make 12 tricks by means of a simple end play.

First, run your hearts and discard a spade from dummy; then run the clubs and discard your last diamond.

West will be down to three cards. If he has held the ace and jack of diamonds he will have blanked his king of spades and all your spades will be good. If he has thrown away either high diamond you simply play dummy's ten and he will have to lead a spade up to your ace-queen.

You, South, hold:

What do you do?
A—Bid two or three no-trump. Either bid is acceptable.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You choose to bid two no-trump and your partner bids three hearts. What do you do now?

Your Pharmacist Says...

Some people go years without paying attention to their health. Others need a doctor on hand to start the day—everyday. Between these extremes are great numbers of thinking people caring for their health in an orderly manner. They see their doctor at regular intervals for guidance. When he gives them a prescription they take it to a dependable pharmacy.

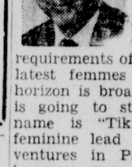
TV NEWS
by DON SHUMAKER



The feminine lead in a TV series is usually a slim, trim, beautiful creature who is continually concerned with keeping her measurements down to the fashion-model requirements of TV. But one of the latest femmes fatale on the TV horizon is broad in the beam and is going to stay that way. Her name is "Tiki," and she's the feminine lead in ABC-TV's "Adventures in Paradise." And her beam measures 20 feet, 8 inches . . . which is fine for an 85-foot schooner.

"Tiki" is a "woman of the world." "Born" at Booth Bay Harbor, Maine, in 1932, her maiden voyage was a two-year-long cruise around the world covering over 28,000 miles. She edged between surf-pounded reefs, braved heavy seas off Tahiti, and battled storms in the Red Sea on that trip. Her acting ambitions began when she was bought later by actor Lewis Stone, "Judge Hardy" of the "Andy Hardy" movies. But the road to stardom was hard. Sold by Stone, "Tiki" was forced for a time to take a job as an anchored fishing barge off Redondo Beach, California. But then her big break came, and after "exposure" in a pair of movies, she finally became a star on TV. And "Tiki" has one advantage over her sister TV stars . . . she doesn't have to watch her figure. But her "figure" does depend on expert maintenannce by experienced TV production technicians. Just as the performance of your TV set depends on expert maintenance by experienced TV service technicians. Our TV service staff at Shumaker TV & Appliance is well-trained in the fast, dependable repair of TV sets of any make and model. Call us for quick, reliable TV service done at reasonable rates. THE STORY: Phil Bokker and Paul Shay become involved in a poker game on a train in Kansas with men named Templeton and Jethro. Paul loses a large sum of money in the game.

XII

Templeton and Jethro moved on to the next car. Paul Shay watched them leave, then exclaimed to Phil, "We've been taken. I've lost over $700. And it wasn't my money."

Bokker, who had lost only $22, winced. "You gambled with your company's money?"

"That's my trouble, Phil," said Shay worriedly. "But it isn't losing the money that makes me so mad, it's being a sucker. I have the feeling that the buffalo hunter and Templeton are working together."

"That's why I dropped out," said Bokker, "with four sixes."

"Four sixes!"

Bokker's eyes flickered to the girl two seats away. She was struggling to wrestle a rather heavy carpetbag down from the overhead rack. Her seat companion was a middle-aged woman and facing them were two non-descript-looking men. One of these got to his feet.

"Allow me, madam!"

The bag came down. It was heavier than he had expected and slipped, bouncing the girl's shoulder and striking her in the stomach.

She cried in pain.

The man leaned over, grabbing one of her hands in his. "Sorry, madam, I tried to help you, but the bag slipped." He continued to chafe her hand, although it was her shoulder and body that had been struck by the bag.

* * *

With an angry motion the young woman jerked her hands free. "Let me alone, Mister!" she exclaimed.

"I was only tryin' to help, ma'am."

The girl bent over to pick up the bag off the floor. The man also stooped at the same instant and their heads collided. The young woman cried out in pain and anger. Once more the man reached for her hands, managed to secure one and he stated to massage it again.

The girl tried to free her hand of the man's grip. He clung to it. There was only one thing left for the girl to do. She swung her free hand and cracked the man's face with a stinging blow.

"Well, that's what you're used to, ain't you?"

Bokker got to his feet and took two quick steps forward. He grabbed the man by the coat collar, jerked him out into the aisle and gave him a hard, quick shove.

The man stumbled and hit the floor of the swaying coach. For just an instant he lay stunned, then scrambled to his feet.

* * *

His hand went under his coat. Bokker, who had not expected gunplay, struck out with his left hand, a flailing blow. It caught the arm of the man just as the hand came clear with a stubby revolver. The blow knocked the gun hand aside. Bokker, stepping in, smashed the man a savage blow on the jaw that again sent him to the floor, this time on his back.

The gun clattered to the floor behind the man. Bokker stepped quickly past him. He scooped up the gun, continued on to the end of the car. He jerked open the door and threw the gun out.

Then he turned.

The man hesitated, then backed to his vacated seat. He reached up and got his bag down from the rack. Shooting a black look at Bokker, he went past him and out of the coach.

Bokker watched him go. He nodded to the girl and intended to go on to his own seat. The girl said, "I'm sorry you had to fight him. He—he might have shot you."

Bokker waited a moment, then when she didn't go on, he said, "You're going to Pawnee City?"

"Is—is it so terrible in Pawnee City?"

"I don't know. I haven't been there. But I understand it's a boom town and boom towns are apt to be wild."

* * *

"Where's that?"

"Ohio. A little place called Canal Dover. There's no chance there for a girl to make a living and when my father died—well, to make a long story short, I read an article in a Cleveland paper. It told about Pawnee City . . . said it was a—I think those were the words—a rip-roaring town, where everybody had plenty of money and the cowboys thought nothing of paying even $20 for a hat to take back to Texas. So I thought: Well, I do know something about making hats."

Paul Shay came up behind Bokker and tapped him lightly on the shoulder. Bokker looked over his shoulder and saw Shay smirk. "This is my friend, Paul Shay, Miss . . .?"

"Compton. Ruth Compton."

"I," said Bokker, "am Phil Bokker."

HIS RX FOR MOVIES

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What the movie industry needs is "a good hypo of daring, mixed with imagination and guts," says a young actor who claims type casting is strangling the business.

Jack Lord played all sorts of roles in legitimate theater and television in New York. In Hollywood, however, he declares: "The majority of people who cast pictures can't see beyond the last part you did. They play it safe."

This tendency has built a star system with a dozen men at the top commanding astronomical salaries and percentage deals, says Lord. He points out the studios all grumble about paying a high price for names which draw customers.

"But they have created the situation themselves by not giving competent young actors the opportunity to do leading roles," he added.

CARNIVAL — By Dick Turner
